- (7) If the Council has reasonable cause to suspect that a law practice has not complied with the obligations of this section, it may, by notice in writing served on the practice, require the practice to attend before it and to produce evidence of the trust money received by the practice, the amount from time to time standing to the credit of the general trust account, and such other relevant matters as may be specified in the notice.
- (8) If a law practice establishes a general trust account and has, at the time of establishing the account, no other trust account, the balance of the general trust account during the first month after its establishment is, for the purposes of this section, to be ignored.
- (9) A law practice that fails to make the appropriate deposit by the last date for payment is liable to pay the Society, for the credit of the statutory interest account, interest on the outstanding amount at the prescribed rate for the period of the default but, if the appropriate deposit is made within 7 days after that date, no liability for interest arises under this subsection.
- (10) A law practice may withdraw money held on the practice's account in the combined trust account if, and only if, the withdrawal is necessary to meet an immediate claim on the practice's general trust account or to establish a reasonable balance in the general trust account sufficient to meet claims reasonably expected in the ordinary course of legal practice in the near future.
- (11) If a law practice withholds money from deposit under subsection (5)(a) or withdraws money under subsection (10), the external examiner for the law practice must, in the external examiner's report for the relevant year, express an opinion on whether the withholding or withdrawal was justified, and if the amount exceeds the amount that could, in the external examiner's opinion, be reasonably justified, on the amount of the excess (but before the external examiner includes a statement expressing such an opinion in the report, the external examiner must allow the practice a reasonable opportunity to comment on the proposed statement and may make any modification to the proposed statement that the external examiner considers justified in the light of the practice's comments).
- (12) If the withholding or withdrawal of money is not justified, or exceeds an amount that could be reasonably justified, the law practice is liable to pay to the Society, for the credit of the statutory interest account, interest at the prescribed rate on the amount withheld or withdrawn, or the amount of the excess, (as the case requires), from the date of the withholding or withdrawal until the amount on deposit in the combined trust account is restored to the level required by this section.

(a) in accordance with the professional obligations of legal practitioners and other obligations imposed by or under this Act, the regulations or legal profession rules; and

(b) so that those obligations of legal practitioners who are officers or employees of the practice are not affected by other officers or employees of the practice.

- (4) If it ought reasonably to be apparent to a legal practitioner director of an incorporated legal practice that the provision of legal services by the practice will result in breaches of the professional obligations of legal practitioners or other obligations imposed by or under this Act, the director must take all reasonable action available to the director to ensure that—

(a) the breaches do not occur; and

(b) appropriate remedial action is taken in respect of breaches that do occur.

- (5) Nothing in this Schedule derogates from the obligations or liabilities of a director of an incorporated legal practice under any other law.

- (6) The reference in subclause (1) to a legal practitioner director does not include a reference to a person who is not validly appointed as a director (but this subclause does not affect the meaning of the expression "legal practitioner director" in other provisions of this Act).

 - (b) a person is appointed under this clause or a corresponding law in relation to the practice.
- (5) The Supreme Court may, if it thinks it appropriate, appoint a legal practitioner who is an employee of the incorporated legal practice or another person nominated by the Court, in the absence of a legal practitioner director, to exercise or perform the functions or duties conferred or imposed on a legal practitioner director under this Schedule.
- (6) A legal practitioner is not eligible to be appointed under this clause unless the practitioner holds an unrestricted practising certificate.

- (8) An incorporated legal practice does not contravene subclause (1) during any period during which a person holds an appointment under this clause in relation to the practice.
- (9) A reference in this clause to a legal practitioner director does not include a reference to a person who is not validly appointed as a director (but this subclause does not affect the meaning of the expression "legal practitioner director" in other provisions of this Act).

11—Obligations and privileges of practitioners who are officers or employees

- (1) A legal practitioner who provides legal services on behalf of an incorporated legal practice in the capacity of an officer or employee of the practice—

 - (b) does not lose the professional privileges of a legal practitioner.
- (2) For the purposes only of subclause (1), the professional obligations and professional privileges of a practitioner apply as if—

 - (b) where there is only 1 legal practitioner director of an incorporated legal practice—the practice were a sole practitioner and the employees of the practice were employees of the legal practitioner director.

- (4) The directors of an incorporated legal practice do not breach their duties as directors merely because legal services are provided pro bono by a legal practitioner employed by the practice.

12—Professional indemnity insurance

- (1) If a scheme under section 52 is in force requiring incorporated legal practices, or specified classes of incorporated legal practices, to be insured against liabilities that may arise in the course of, or in relation to, legal practice, an incorporated legal practice, or the specified classes of incorporated legal practices, must have the insurance required by the scheme.

Note—

See also section 52AA.

- (2) If the obligation referred in subclause (1) is not complied with, the practising certificate held by each legal practitioner director of the incorporated legal practice will be taken to be suspended until the legal practice obtains such insurance.
- (3) Subclause (1) does not affect an obligation of a legal practitioner, who is an officer or employee of an incorporated legal practice, to comply with the provisions of this Act relating to insurance.

13—Conflicts of interest

For the purposes of the application of any law (including the common law) or legal profession rules relating to conflicts of interest to the conduct of a legal practitioner who is—

- (2) If a restriction referred to in subclause (1) is limited to a particular branch of the legal profession or for persons who practise in a particular style of legal practice, the restriction applies only to the extent that the incorporated legal practice carries on the business in that branch of the legal profession or in that style of legal practice.

- (3) Any advertisement of the kind referred to in this clause is, for the purposes of disciplinary proceedings taken against a legal practitioner, taken to have been authorised by each legal practitioner director of the incorporated legal practice.
- (4) This clause does not apply if the provision by which the restriction is imposed expressly excludes its application to incorporated legal practices.

 - (b) civil proceedings for any other debt owed, or damages payable, to a client as a result of a dishonest act or omission by a legal practitioner who is an employee of the practice in connection with the provision of legal services to the client.
- (2) If the incorporated legal practice would not (but for this clause) be vicariously liable for any acts or omissions of its officers and employees in those proceedings, but would be liable for those acts or omissions if the practice and those officers and employees were carrying on business in partnership, the practice is taken to be vicariously liable for those acts or omissions.

17—Sharing of receipts, revenue or other income

- (1) Nothing in this Act, the regulations or the legal profession rules prevents a legal practitioner from sharing with an incorporated legal practice receipts, revenue or other income arising from the provision of legal services by the practitioner.
- (2) This clause does not extend to the sharing of receipts, revenue or other income in contravention of clause 18.

- (e) details of the intervals (if any) at which the client will be billed; and
- (f) the rate of interest (if any) that the law practice charges on overdue legal costs, whether that rate is a specific rate of interest or is a benchmark rate of interest (as referred to in subclause (2)); and
- (g) if the matter is a litigious matter, an estimate of—
 - (i) the range of costs that may be recovered if the client is successful in the litigation; and
 - (ii) the range of costs the client may be ordered to pay if the client is unsuccessful; and

- (2) For the purposes of subclause (1)(f), a benchmark rate of interest is a rate of interest for the time being equal to or calculated by reference to a rate of interest that is specified or determined from time to time by an ADI or another body or organisation, or by or under other legislation, and that is publicly available.
- (3) The regulations may make provision for or with respect to the use of benchmark rates of interest, and in particular for or with respect to permitting, regulating or preventing the use of particular benchmark rates or particular kinds of benchmark rates.
- (4) For the purposes of subclause (1)(g), the disclosure must include—

 - (b) if applicable, a statement that disbursements may be payable by the client even if the client enters a conditional costs agreement.
- (5) A law practice is taken to have complied with the requirement to disclose the details referred to in subclause (1)(c)(i) to (iii), (h), (j), (k) and (m) if it provides a written statement in or to the effect of a form prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this subclause at the same time as the other details are disclosed as required by this clause.
- (6) A form prescribed for the purposes of subclause (5) may, instead of itself containing details of the kind referred to in that subclause, refer to publicly accessible sources of information (such as an Internet website) from which those details can be obtained.
- (7) The regulations may—
 - (a) require the Society to develop a statement of the relevant details and to revise it as necessary to keep it up to date; and
 - (b) require the Society to make the statement publicly available in the prescribed manner.

11—Disclosure if another law practice is to be retained

- (1) If a law practice intends to retain another law practice on behalf of the client, the first law practice must disclose to the client the details specified in clause 10(1)(a), (d) and (e) in relation to the other law practice, in addition to any information required to be disclosed to the client under clause 10.
- (2) A law practice retained or to be retained on behalf of a client by another law practice is not required to make disclosure to the client under clause 10, but must disclose to the other law practice the information necessary for the other law practice to comply with subclause (1).
- (3) This clause does not apply if the first law practice ceases to act for the client in the matter when the other law practice is retained.

12—Timing of disclosure to client

- (1) Disclosure under clause 10 must be made in writing before, or as soon as practicable after, the law practice is retained in the matter.
- (2) Disclosure under clause 11(1) must be made in writing before, or as soon as practicable after, the other law practice is retained.
- (3) Disclosure made to a person before the law practice is retained in a matter is taken to be disclosure to the person as a client for the purposes of clauses 10 and 11.

13—Exceptions to requirement for disclosure

- (1) Disclosure under clause 10 or 11(1) is not required to be made in any of the following circumstances:
 - (a) if the total legal costs in the matter, excluding disbursements, are not likely to exceed $1 500 (exclusive of GST) or the prescribed amount (whichever is higher);
 - (b) if—
 - (i) the client has received 1 or more disclosures under clause 10 or 11(1) from the law practice in the previous 12 months; and
 - (ii) the client has agreed in writing to waive the right to disclosure; and
 - (iii) a principal of the law practice decides on reasonable grounds that, having regard to the nature of the previous disclosures and the relevant circumstances, the further disclosure is not warranted;
 - (c) if the client is—
 - (i) a law practice or a legal practitioner; or
 - (ii) a public company, a subsidiary of a public company, a large proprietary company, a foreign company, a subsidiary of a foreign company or a registered Australian body (each within the meaning of the Corporations Act 2001 of the Commonwealth); or

For instance, disclosure would not be required where the law practice acts in the matter on a pro bono basis.

- (f) in any circumstances prescribed by the regulations.
- (2) Despite subclause (1)(a), if a law practice becomes aware that the total legal costs are likely to exceed $1 500 (exclusive of GST) or the prescribed amount (whichever is higher), the law practice must disclose the matters in clause 10 or 11 (as the case requires) to the client as soon as practicable.
 - (3) A law practice must ensure that a written record of a principal's decision that further disclosure is not warranted as mentioned in subclause (1)(b) is made and kept with the files relating to the matter concerned.
 - (4) The reaching of a decision referred to in subclause (3) otherwise than on reasonable grounds is capable of constituting unsatisfactory professional conduct or professional misconduct on the part of the principal.
 - (5) Nothing in this clause affects or takes away from any client's right—
 - (a) to progress reports in accordance with clause 19; or
 - (b) to obtain reasonable information from the law practice in relation to any of the matters specified in clause 10; or
 - (c) to negotiate a costs agreement with a law practice and to obtain a bill from the law practice.

14—Additional disclosure—settlement of litigious matters

- (1) If a law practice negotiates the settlement of a litigious matter on behalf of a client, the law practice must disclose to the client, before the settlement is agreed—
 - (a) a reasonable estimate of the amount of legal costs payable by the client if the matter is settled (including any legal costs of another party that the client is to pay); and
 - (b) a reasonable estimate of any contributions towards those costs likely to be received from another party.
- (2) A law practice retained on behalf of a client by another law practice is not required to make a disclosure to the client under subclause (1), if the other law practice makes the disclosure to the client before the settlement is executed.

15—Additional disclosure—uplift fees

- (1) A law practice must, before entering into a costs agreement that involves an uplift fee—
 - (a) provide the client with—
 - (i) an estimate of the total legal costs the client would be likely to incur if the agreement did not involve an uplift fee; or
 - (ii) if it is not reasonably practicable to provide an estimate of the total legal costs—a range of estimates of the total legal costs the client would be likely to incur if the agreement did not involve an uplift fee and an explanation of the major variables that would affect the calculation of those costs; and
 - (b) disclose to the client in writing—
 - (i) the uplift fee (or the basis of the calculation of the uplift fee); and
 - (ii) the reasons why the uplift fee is warranted.
- (2) A law practice is not required to make a disclosure under subclause (1) to a sophisticated client.

16—Form of disclosure

- (1) Written disclosures under this Part—
 - (a) must be expressed in clear plain language; and
 - (b) may be in a language other than English if the client is more familiar with that language.
- (2) If the law practice is aware that the client is unable to read, the law practice must arrange for the information required to be given to a client under this Part to be conveyed orally to the client in addition to providing the written disclosure.

17—Ongoing obligation to disclose

A law practice must, in writing, disclose to a client any substantial change to anything included in a disclosure already made under this Part as soon as is reasonably practicable after the law practice becomes aware of that change.

18—Effect of failure to disclose

- (1) If a law practice does not disclose to a client or an associated third party payer anything required by this Part to be disclosed, the client or associated third party payer need not pay the legal costs unless they have been adjudicated under Part 7.
- (2) A law practice that does not disclose to a client or an associated third party payer anything required by this Part to be disclosed may not maintain proceedings against the client or associated third party payer (as the case may be) for the recovery of legal costs unless the costs have been adjudicated under Part 7.
- (3) If a law practice does not disclose to a client or an associated third party payer anything required by this Part to be disclosed and the client or associated third party payer has entered a costs agreement with the law practice, the client or associated third party payer may also apply under clause 30 for the costs agreement to be set aside.

- (4) If a law practice does not disclose to a client or an associated third party payer anything required by this Part to be disclosed, then, on an adjudication of the relevant legal costs, the amount of the costs may be reduced by an amount considered by the Supreme Court to be proportionate to the seriousness of the failure to disclose.
- (5) If a law practice retains another law practice on behalf of a client and the first law practice fails to disclose something to the client solely because the retained law practice failed to disclose relevant information to the first law practice as required by clause 11(2), then subclauses (1) to (4)—
 - (a) do not apply to the legal costs owing to the first law practice on account of legal services provided by it, to the extent that the non-disclosure by the first law practice was caused by the failure of the retained law practice to disclose the relevant information; and
 - (b) do apply to the legal costs owing to the retained law practice.
- (6) In a matter involving both a client and an associated third party payer where disclosure has been made to 1 of them but not the other—
 - (a) subclause (1) does not affect the liability of the one to whom disclosure was made to pay the legal costs; and
 - (b) subclause (2) does not prevent proceedings being maintained against the one to whom the disclosure was made for the recovery of those legal costs.
- (7) Failure by a law practice to comply with this Part is capable of constituting unsatisfactory professional conduct or professional misconduct on the part of any legal practitioner involved in the failure.

19—Progress reports

- (1) A law practice must give a client, on reasonable request—
 - (a) a written report of the progress of the matter in which the law practice is retained; and
 - (b) a written report of the legal costs incurred by the client to date, or since the last bill (if any), in the matter.
- (2) A law practice may charge a client a reasonable amount for a report under subclause (1)(a) but must not charge a client for a report under subclause (1)(b).
- (3) A law practice retained on behalf of a client by another law practice is not required to give a report to the client under subclause (1), but must disclose to the other law practice any information necessary for the other law practice to comply with that subclause.
- (4) Subclause (3) does not apply if the other law practice ceases to act for the client in the matter when the law practice is retained.

20—Disclosures to associated third party payers

- (1) If a law practice is required to make a disclosure to a client of the law practice under this Part, the law practice must, in accordance with subclauses (2) and (3), also make the same disclosure to any associated third party payer for the client, but only to the extent that the details or matters disclosed are relevant to the associated third party payer and relate to costs that are payable by the associated third party payer in respect of legal services provided to the client.
- (2) A disclosure under subclause (1) must be made in writing—
 - (a) at the time the disclosure to the client is required under this Part; or
 - (b) if the law practice only afterwards becomes aware of the legal obligation of the associated third party payer to pay legal costs of the client—as soon as practicable after the law practice became aware of the obligation.
- (3) Clause 16 applies to a disclosure to an associated third party payer under subclause (1) in the same way as it applies to a client.
- (4) An associated third party payer for a client of a law practice has the same right as the client to obtain reports under clause 19(1)(b) of legal costs incurred by the client, but only to the extent that the costs are payable by the associated third party payer in respect of legal services provided to the client, and the law practice must comply with that clause accordingly.

Part 4—Legal costs generally

21—Recovery of legal costs

Legal costs are recoverable—

- (a) under a costs agreement made in accordance with Part 5 or the corresponding provisions of a corresponding law; or
- (b) if paragraph (a) does not apply, in accordance with an applicable scale of costs or any applicable recommendations as to the calculation of barristers' costs; or
- (c) if neither paragraph (a) nor (b) applies, according to the fair and reasonable value of the legal services provided.

22—Security for legal costs

A law practice may take reasonable security from a client for legal costs (including security for the payment of interest on unpaid legal costs) and may refuse or cease to act for a client who does not provide reasonable security.

23—Interest on unpaid legal costs

- (1) A law practice may charge interest on unpaid legal costs if the costs are unpaid 30 days or more after the practice has given a bill for the costs in accordance with this Schedule.
- (2) A law practice may also charge interest on unpaid legal costs in accordance with a costs agreement.

- (3) A law practice must not charge interest under subclause (1) or (2) on unpaid legal costs unless the bill for those costs contains a statement that interest is payable and of the rate of interest.
- (4) A law practice may not charge interest under this clause or under a costs agreement at a rate that exceeds the rate prescribed by the regulations.

Part 5—Costs agreements

24—Making costs agreements

- (1) A costs agreement may be made—
 - (a) between a client and a law practice retained by the client; or
 - (b) between a client and a law practice retained on behalf of the client by another law practice; or
 - (c) between a law practice and another law practice that retained that law practice on behalf of a client; or
 - (d) between a law practice and an associated third party payer.
- (2) A costs agreement must be written or evidenced in writing.
- (3) A costs agreement may consist of a written offer in accordance with subclause (4) that is accepted in writing or by other conduct.

Note—

Acceptance by other conduct is not permitted for conditional costs agreements—see clause 25.

- (4) The offer must clearly state—
 - (a) that it is an offer to enter into a costs agreement; and
 - (b) that the offer can be accepted in writing or by other conduct; and
 - (c) the type of conduct that will constitute acceptance.
- (5) Except as provided by clause 51, a costs agreement cannot provide that the legal costs to which it relates are not subject to adjudication of costs under Part 7.

Note—

If it attempts to do so, the costs agreement will be void—see clause 29(1).

- (6) A reference in clause 30 and in prescribed provisions of this Schedule to a client is, in relation to a costs agreement that is entered into between a law practice and an associated third party payer as referred to in subclause (1)(d) and to which a client of the law practice is not a party, a reference to the associated third party payer.

25—Conditional costs agreements

- (1) A costs agreement may provide that the payment of some or all of the legal costs is conditional on the successful outcome of the matter to which those costs relate.
- (2) A conditional costs agreement may relate to any matter, except—
 - (a) a criminal matter; or
 - (b) a matter that relates to or involves child protection, custody or guardianship or adoption; or

 - (i) the Family Law Act 1975;
 - (ii) the Migration Act 1958;
 - (iii) the Child Support (Assessment) Act 1989; or
 - (d) any other matter of a kind prescribed by regulation.
- (3) A conditional costs agreement—
- (a) must set out the circumstances that constitute the successful outcome of the matter to which it relates; and
 - (b) may provide for disbursements to be paid irrespective of the outcome of the matter; and
 - (c) must be—
 - (i) in writing; and
 - (ii) in clear plain language; and
 - (iii) signed by the client; and
 - (d) must contain a statement that the client has been informed of the client's right to seek independent legal advice before entering into the agreement; and
 - (e) must contain a cooling-off period of not less than 5 clear business days during which the client, by written notice, may terminate the agreement.
- (4) Subclause (3)(c)(iii), (d) and (e) do not apply to a conditional costs agreement made under clause 24(1)(c).
- (5) Subclause (3)(c)(iii), (d) and (e) do not apply to a conditional costs agreement made with a sophisticated client.
- (6) If a client terminates an agreement within the period referred to in subclause (3)(e), the law practice—
- (a) may recover only those legal costs in respect of legal services performed for the client before that termination that were performed on the instructions of the client and with the client's knowledge that the legal services would be performed during that period; and
 - (b) without affecting the generality of paragraph (a), may not recover the uplift fee (if any).

26—Conditional costs agreements involving uplift fees

- (1) A conditional costs agreement may provide for the payment of an uplift fee.
- (2) The basis of calculation of the uplift fee must be separately identified in the agreement.
- (3) The agreement must contain an estimate of the uplift fee or, if that is not reasonably practicable—
 - (a) a range of estimates of the uplift fee; and
 - (b) an explanation of the major variables that will affect the calculation of the uplift fee.

- (4) If a conditional costs agreement relates to a litigious matter—
 - (a) the agreement must not provide for the payment of an uplift fee unless the risk of the claim failing, and of the client having to meet his or her own costs, is significant; and
 - (b) the uplift fee must not exceed 25% of the legal costs (excluding disbursements) otherwise payable.
- (5) A law practice must not enter into a costs agreement in contravention of this clause.
Maximum penalty: $50 000.

27—Contingency fees are prohibited

- (1) A law practice must not enter into a costs agreement under which the amount payable to the law practice, or any part of that amount, is calculated by reference to the amount of any award or settlement or the value of any property that may be recovered in any proceedings to which the agreement relates.
Maximum penalty: $50 000.
- (2) Subclause (1) does not apply to the extent that the costs agreement adopts an applicable scale of costs.

28—Effect of costs agreement

Subject to this Part and Part 7, a costs agreement may be enforced in the same way as any other contract.

29—Certain costs agreements are void

- (1) A costs agreement that contravenes, or is entered into in contravention of, any provision of this Part is void.
- (2) Subject to this clause and Part 7, legal costs under a void costs agreement are recoverable as set out in clause 21(b) or (c).
- (3) However, a law practice is not entitled to recover any amount in excess of the amount that the law practice would have been entitled to recover if the costs agreement had not been void and must repay any excess amount received.
- (4) A law practice that has entered into a costs agreement in contravention of clause 26 is not entitled to recover the whole or any part of the uplift fee and must repay the amount received in respect of the uplift fee to the person from whom it was received.
- (5) A law practice that has entered into a costs agreement in contravention of clause 27 is not entitled to recover any amount in respect of the provision of legal services in the matter to which the costs agreement related and must repay any amount received in respect of those services to the person from whom it was received.
- (6) If a law practice does not repay an amount required by subclause (3), (4) or (5) to be repaid, the person entitled to be repaid may recover the amount from the law practice as a debt in a court of competent jurisdiction.

30—Setting aside costs agreements

- (1) On application by a client, the Supreme Court may order that a costs agreement be set aside if satisfied that the agreement is not fair and reasonable.

- (2) In determining whether or not a costs agreement is fair and reasonable, and without limiting the matters to which the Supreme Court can have regard, the Court may have regard to any or all of the following matters:
- (a) whether the client was induced to enter into the agreement by the fraud or misrepresentation of the law practice or of any representative of the law practice;
 - (b) whether any legal practitioner acting on behalf of the law practice has been found guilty of unsatisfactory professional conduct or professional misconduct in relation to the provision of legal services to which the agreement relates;
 - (c) whether the law practice failed to make any of the disclosures required under Part 3;
 - (d) the circumstances and the conduct of the parties before and when the agreement was made;
 - (e) the circumstances and the conduct of the parties in the matters after the agreement was made;

 - (g) whether and how billing under the agreement addresses changed circumstances affecting the extent and nature of legal services provided under the agreement.
- (3) The Supreme Court may adjourn the hearing of an application under this clause pending the completion of any investigation or determination of any charge in relation to the conduct of any legal practitioner.
- (4) If the Supreme Court orders that a costs agreement be set aside, it may make an order in relation to the payment of legal costs the subject of the agreement.
- (5) In making an order under subclause (4)—
- (a) the Supreme Court must apply the applicable scale of costs (if any) and any applicable recommendations as to the calculation of barristers' costs; or
 - (b) if there is no applicable scale of costs or recommendations—the Court must determine the fair and reasonable legal costs in relation to the work to which the agreement related, taking into account—
 - (i) the seriousness of the conduct of the law practice or any legal practitioner acting on its behalf; and
 - (ii) whether or not it was reasonable to carry out the work; and
 - (iii) whether or not the work was carried out in a reasonable manner.
- (6) In making an order under subclause (4), the Supreme Court may not order the payment of an amount in excess of the amount that the law practice would have been entitled to recover if the costs agreement had not been set aside.

- (7) For the purposes of subclause (5), the Supreme Court may have regard to any or all of the following matters:
- (a) whether the law practice and any legal practitioner acting on its behalf complied with any relevant legislation or legal profession rules;
 - (b) any disclosures made by the law practice under Part 3, or the failure to make any disclosures required under that Part;
 - (c) any relevant advertisement as to—

- (9) The Supreme Court may order the payment of the costs of and incidental to an application under this clause.
- (10) In this clause—
- client* means a person to whom or for whom legal services are or have been provided.

Part 6—Billing

31—Legal costs cannot be recovered unless bill has been served

- (2) A court of competent jurisdiction may make an order authorising a law practice to commence legal proceedings against a person sooner if satisfied that—
- (a) the law practice has given a bill to the person in accordance with clauses 32 and 33; and
 - (b) the person is about to leave this State.
- (3) A court or tribunal before which any proceedings are brought in contravention of subclause (1) must stay those proceedings on the application of a party, or on its own initiative.
- (4) This clause applies whether or not the legal costs are the subject of a costs agreement.

32—Bills

- (2) A bill must be signed on behalf of a law practice by a legal practitioner or an employee of the law practice authorised by a principal of the law practice to sign bills.
- (3) It is sufficient compliance with subclause (2) if a letter signed on behalf of a law practice by a legal practitioner or an employee of the law practice authorised by a principal of the law practice to sign bills is attached to, or enclosed with, the bill.
- (4) If an employee of a law practice who is authorised by a principal of the practice to sign bills on behalf of the practice signs a bill or a letter attached to, or enclosed with, a bill, the bill or letter will be taken to have been signed by the principal.
- (5) A bill is to be given to a person in accordance with section 95D.

33—Notification of client's rights

- (1) A bill must include or be accompanied by a written statement setting out—
 - (a) the following avenues that are open to the client in the event of a dispute in relation to legal costs:
 - (i) raising the matter with the law practice;
 - (ii) adjudication of costs by the Supreme Court under Part 7;
 - (iii) the setting aside of a costs agreement under clause 30;
 - (iv) if the client believes there has been overcharging—making a complaint to the Commissioner; and
 - (b) if the bill is not an itemised bill—the law practice's obligation to provide an itemised bill on request by the client; and
 - (c) any time limits that apply to the taking of any action referred to in paragraph (a).

Note—

These matters will already have been disclosed under clause 10(1).

- (2) Subclause (1) does not apply in relation to a sophisticated client.
- (3) A law practice is taken to have complied with the requirement to provide the written statement referred to in subclause (1) if it provides a written statement in or to the effect of a form prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this subclause.
- (4) A form prescribed for the purposes of subclause (3) may, instead of itself containing details of the kind referred to in that subclause, refer to publicly accessible sources of information (such as an Internet website) from which those details can be obtained.
- (5) The regulations may—
 - (a) require the Society to develop a statement of the relevant details and to revise it as necessary to keep it up to date; and
 - (b) require the Society to make the statement publicly available in the prescribed manner.

34—Request for itemised bill

- (1) If a bill that is not an itemised bill is given by a law practice, any person who is entitled to apply for an adjudication of the legal costs to which the bill relates may request the law practice to give the person an itemised bill.
- (2) The law practice must comply with the request within 21 days after the date on which the request is made.
- (3) If the person making the request is liable to pay only a part of the legal costs to which the bill relates, the request for an itemised bill may only be made in relation to those costs that the person is liable to pay.
- (4) Subject to subclause (5), a law practice must not commence legal proceedings to recover legal costs from a person who has been given a lump sum bill until at least 30 days after the date on which the person is given the bill.

- (7) Section 95D applies to the giving of an itemised bill under this clause.

35—Interim bills

- (1) A law practice may give a person an interim bill covering part only of the legal services the law practice was retained to provide.

In this Part—

client means a person to whom or for whom legal services are or have been provided.

37—Application by clients or third party payers for adjudication of costs

 - (b) on the application of a third party payer for an adjudication of the whole or any part of legal costs payable by the third party payer,adjudicate and settle the bill for those costs.
- (2) An application for an adjudication of costs may be made even if the legal costs have been wholly or partly paid.
- (3) If any legal costs have been paid without a bill, the client or third party payer may nevertheless apply for an adjudication.

- (4) An application by a client or third party payer for an adjudication of costs under this clause must be made within 6 months after—
- (a) the bill was given or the request for payment was made to the client or third party payer; or
 - (b) the costs were paid if neither a bill was given nor a request was made.
- (5) However, an application that is made out of time, otherwise than by—
- (a) a sophisticated client; or
 - (b) a third party payer who would be a sophisticated client if the third party payer were a client of the law practice concerned, may be dealt with by the Supreme Court if the Court, on application by the client or third party payer who made the application for adjudication, determines, after having regard to the delay and the reasons for the delay, that it is just and fair for the application for adjudication to be dealt with after the 6 month period.

- (6) If the third party payer is a non-associated third party payer, the law practice must provide the third party payer, on the written request of the third party payer, with sufficient information to allow the third party payer to consider making, and if thought fit to make, an application for an adjudication of costs under this clause.
- (7) If there is an associated third party payer for a client of a law practice—
- (a) nothing in this clause prevents—
 - (i) the client from making 1 or more applications for adjudication under this clause in relation to costs for which the client is solely liable; and

 - (ii) is taken to be a party to the adjudication and is bound by the adjudication; and
 - (c) the law practice is taken to be a party to the adjudication and is bound by the adjudication.
- (8) If there is a non-associated third party payer for a client of a law practice—
- (a) nothing in this clause prevents—
 - (i) the client from making 1 or more applications for adjudication under this clause in relation to costs for which the client is liable; and

- (ii) the non-associated third party payer from making 1 or more applications for adjudication under this clause in relation to costs for which the non-associated third party payer is liable, and those applications may be made by them at the same time or at different times but must be dealt with separately; and
 - (b) the client—
 - (i) may participate in the adjudication of costs process where the non-associated third party payer makes an application for adjudication under this clause in relation to the legal costs for which the non-associated third party payer is liable; and
 - (ii) is taken to be a party to the adjudication and is bound by the adjudication; and
 - (c) despite any other provision of this Part, the adjudication of the costs payable by the non-associated third party payer does not affect the amount of legal costs payable by the client to the law practice.
- (9) In this clause—
- client* includes the following:
- (a) an executor or administrator of a client;
 - (b) a trustee of the estate of a client;
- third party payer* includes the following:

for an adjudication of the whole or any part of the legal costs to which a bill given by the other law practice in accordance with Part 6 relates.
- (2) If any legal costs have been paid without a bill, the law practice may nevertheless apply for an adjudication.
- (3) An application for an adjudication of costs may be made even if the legal costs have been wholly or partly paid.
- (4) An application under this clause must be made within 60 days after—
 - (a) the bill was given or the request for payment was made; or
 - (b) the costs were paid if neither a bill was given nor a request was made; or

- (c) in the case of an application made on the instructions of a client or third party payer—within 60 days of the day on which the client or third party payer was given notification in writing of the legal costs to which the bill relates.
 - (5) An application cannot be made under this clause if—
 - (a) there is a costs agreement between the client and the other law practice; and
 - (b) the bill given by the other law practice is in accordance with the terms of the costs agreement.

39—Application for adjudication of costs by law practice giving bill

- (1) A law practice that has given a bill in accordance with Part 6 may apply to the Supreme Court for an adjudication of the whole or any part of the legal costs to which the bill relates.

- (3) An application for an adjudication of costs may be made even if the legal costs have been wholly or partly paid.

 - (b) stay any proceedings for recovery of the costs.
- (4) The Supreme Court may, on adjudication of a bill under this Part—

46—Criteria for adjudication

- (1) In conducting an adjudication of legal costs, the Supreme Court must—
 - (a) consider—
 - (i) whether or not it was reasonable to carry out the work to which the legal costs relate; and
 - (ii) whether or not the work was carried out in a reasonable manner; and
 - (iii) the fairness and reasonableness of the amount of legal costs in relation to the work, except to the extent that clause 47 or 48 applies to any disputed costs; and
 - (b) if the legal costs have been the subject of a complaint to the Commissioner of overcharging—have regard to any recommendation made by the Commissioner that the charges be reduced or an amount refunded to the client.

- (2) In considering what is a fair and reasonable amount of legal costs, the Supreme Court may have regard to any or all of the following matters:
- (a) whether the law practice and any legal practitioner acting on its behalf has complied with the law;
 - (b) any disclosures made by the law practice under Part 3;
 - (c) any relevant advertisement as to—

 - (i) the time within which the work was required to be done;

47—Adjudication of costs by reference to costs agreement

- (1) The Supreme Court must adjudicate the amount of any disputed costs that are subject to a costs agreement by reference to the provisions of the costs agreement if—
- (a) a relevant provision of the costs agreement specifies the amount, or a rate or other means for calculating the amount, of the costs; and
 - (b) the agreement has not been set aside under clause 30,
- unless the Court is satisfied—
- (c) that the agreement does not comply in a material respect with any applicable disclosure requirements of Part 3; or
 - (d) that Part 5 precludes the law practice concerned from recovering the amount of the costs; or
 - (e) that the parties otherwise agree.
- (2) The Supreme Court is not required to initiate an examination of the matters referred to in subclause (1)(c) and (d).

 - (b) the Court is satisfied that the law practice failed to comply with Part 3.
- (3) Unless the Supreme Court otherwise orders, if the law practice is not, under subclause (2), liable to pay the costs of the adjudication, the costs of the adjudication must be paid by the applicant for the adjudication.
- (4) However, if an application for an adjudication of costs is made following the making of a determination by the Commissioner in relation to the costs under section 77N, the applicant is required to pay the costs of the adjudication unless the Supreme Court orders otherwise.
- (5) In determining whether to make an order under subclause (4), the Supreme Court must have regard to the extent (if any) to which the result of the adjudication is more favourable for the applicant than the Commissioner's determination.

50—Referral for disciplinary action

- (1) If, on an adjudication, the Supreme Court considers that the legal costs charged by a law practice are grossly excessive, the Court must refer the matter to the Commissioner to consider whether disciplinary action should be taken.
- (2) If the Supreme Court considers that an adjudication raises any other matter that may amount to unsatisfactory professional conduct or professional misconduct on the part of a legal practitioner, the Court may refer the matter to the Commissioner or a corresponding authority to consider whether disciplinary action should be taken.

51—Contracting out of Part by sophisticated clients

A sophisticated client of a law practice, or an associated third party payer who would be a sophisticated client if the third party payer were a client of the law practice concerned, may contract out of this Part (but no such contract affects the Commissioner's power to institute proceedings for the adjudication of legal costs under clause 42).
