 - (b) a term employee of a public sector agency (the home agency) accepts an offer of, or is transferred to, term or casual employment in another public sector agency (the receiving agency) for a period that is shorter than the term of engagement with the home agency.
- (2) The employee is to transfer to the receiving agency with a right to return to the home agency (a temporary transfer).
- (3) An employee may not exercise the right to return to the home agency earlier than the end of a term of engagement with a receiving agency except with the agreement of the home agency.
- (4) If an employee has been absent from a home agency for more than 2 years (or, instead, such other period agreed by the home agency and receiving agency) under a temporary transfer, the home agency may, by notice in writing, require the employee to make an election to return to the employment of the home agency on or before a specified date, or a date agreed to by the home agency, or lose the right to return to the home agency.
- (5) If the employee does not make an election within a period (of at least 28 days) allowed in the notice or does not return to the home agency in accordance with an election, the employee will be taken to have lost the right to return to the home agency.
- (6) If the employee makes an election within the period allowed in the notice to return to the home agency, the temporary transfer will end on the date specified or agreed to by the home agency with the result that the employee returns then to the employment of the home agency.

- (2) A public sector agency may, in a particular case, extend the period within which an application for internal review must be made.

- (5) An internal review of a decision must be completed within 21 days after the applicant has finished providing information and making submissions on the application.

- (9) The parties to an internal review are not to be legally represented, but nothing prevents the applicant from being assisted by a person other than a legal practitioner in presenting his or her case.

Note—

- (4) If an application is made under subregulation (3), it must be made as follows:

(6) At the conclusion of a review, the Commission must, at the request of a party to the review, provide the party with a statement of the reasons for the Commission's decision on the review.

29—Witness fees (section 64 of Act)

Despite section 162 of the Fair Work Act 1994, if an employee of a public sector agency attends as a witness on a summons, or gives evidence at the request of a party, in proceedings under the Act, the employee is not entitled to an allowance but—
