- (a) attempted murder; or

- (c) a sexual offence; or
- (d) —
 - (i) an offence of stalking under section 19AA of the Criminal Law Consolidation Act 1935; or statement includes a statement however made;

sworn evidence means evidence given under the obligation of an oath or an affirmation; and unsworn evidence has a corresponding meaning;

 - (i) where the offence is a serious offence against the person; or
 - (ii) in any other case—where, because of the circumstances of the witness or the circumstances of the case, the witness would, in the opinion of the court, be specially disadvantaged if not treated as a vulnerable witness; or
- (d) a witness who—
 - (i) has been subjected to threats of violence or retribution in connection with the proceedings; or

- (ii) has reasonable grounds to fear violence or retribution in connection with the proceedings; or
- (e) in the case of proceedings for a serious and organised crime offence (within the meaning of the Criminal Law Consolidation Act 1935)—a person who will only consent to being a witness in the proceedings if he or she is treated as a vulnerable witness for the purposes of the proceedings;

- (3) However, a witness who is to give oral evidence in proceedings whose native language is not English will not be taken to have complex communication needs merely because the witness is not reasonably fluent in English (although the witness may be entitled to give the evidence through an interpreter under section 14).

5—Application of Act (prima facie) to all courts and enabling only

The provisions of this Act, unless an intention to the contrary is expressed, or appears or is implied by the context—

- (a) apply to every proceeding before any court whatever; and
- (b) are in addition to, and not in derogation of, any rules of evidence, or power, or right, or duty in relation to procedure or evidence, whether existing at common law, or provided for by any law, at any time, in force in the State.

Part 2—Witnesses

6—Oaths, affirmations etc

- (1) An oath shall be administered and taken as follows:
 - (a) the person taking the oath shall hold a copy of the Bible (being a book that contains the New Testament, the Old Testament or both) in his hand and, after the oath has been tendered to him, shall say "I swear"; or
 - (b) in any other manner and form which the person taking the oath declares to be binding on his conscience; or
 - (c) in any other manner or form authorised or permitted by law.
- (2) Where an oath has been lawfully administered and taken, the fact that the person taking the oath had no religious belief, or that the oath was not taken so as to be binding on his conscience, shall not affect, at law, the validity or effect of the oath.
- (3) A person is permitted, and should be offered the choice, to make an affirmation instead of an oath in all circumstances in which, and for all purposes for which, an oath is required or permitted by law.
- (4) An affirmation is to be administered to a person by asking the person "Do you solemnly and truly affirm" followed by the words of the appropriate oath (omitting any words of imprecation or calling to witness) after which the person must say "I do solemnly and truly affirm".
- (5) Every affirmation has, at law, the same force and effect as an oath.
- (6) No oath or affirmation is invalid by reason of a procedural or formal error or deficiency.

7—Oaths or affirmations taken before a court

- (1) Every court has authority to administer an oath or an affirmation.
- (2) Where an oath or affirmation is to be taken before a court, or in connection with proceedings before a court, it may be administered by—
 - (a) the court itself; or
 - (b) an officer of the court; or
 - (c) any person authorised by the court to administer the oath or affirmation; or
 - (d) any other person authorised by law to administer the oath or affirmation.

9—Unsworn evidence

- (1) A person is presumed to be capable of giving sworn evidence in any proceedings unless the judge determines that the person does not have sufficient understanding of the obligation to be truthful entailed in giving sworn evidence.
- (2) If the judge determines that a person does not have sufficient understanding of the obligation to be truthful entailed in giving sworn evidence, the judge may permit the person to give unsworn evidence provided that—
 - (a) the judge—

- (i) is satisfied that the person understands the difference between the truth and a lie; and
 - (ii) tells the person that it is important to tell the truth; and
- (b) the person indicates that he or she will tell the truth.
- (3) In determining a question under this section, the judge is not bound by the rules of evidence, but may inform himself or herself as the judge thinks fit.
- (4) If unsworn evidence is given under this section in a criminal trial, the judge—
 - (a) must explain to the jury the reason the evidence is unsworn; and
 - (b) may, and if a party so requests must, warn the jury of the need for caution in determining whether to accept the evidence and the weight to be given to it.
- (5) A justice to whom it appears that a person who desires to lay a complaint or information does not have sufficient understanding of the obligation to be truthful entailed in giving sworn evidence may ascertain by inquiry the subject matter of the complaint or information and reduce it into the appropriate form, and any action or proceedings may be taken on the complaint or information in all respects as if the complainant or informant had deposed to the truth of the contents on oath or affirmation.
- (6) Subject to this Act, this section does not apply to a statement made outside of a court admitted as evidence in any proceedings under an exception to the rule against hearsay at common law or under this Act.

12—Evidence of young children

- (4) A young child who is called as a witness is, while giving evidence, entitled to have present in the court, and within reasonable proximity, a person of his or her choice to provide emotional support (but the person must not interfere in the proceedings).
- (5) Unless the court otherwise allows, a witness or prospective witness in the proceedings cannot be chosen under subsection (4) to provide emotional support for a young child.

12A—Warning relating to uncorroborated evidence of child in criminal proceedings

- (1) In a criminal trial, a judge must not warn the jury that it is unsafe to convict on a child's uncorroborated evidence unless—
 - (a) the warning is warranted because there are, in the circumstances of the particular case, cogent reasons, apart from the fact that the witness is a child, to doubt the reliability of the child's evidence; and
 - (b) a party asks that the warning be given.
- (2) In giving any such warning, the judge is not to make any suggestion that the evidence of children is inherently less credible or reliable, or requires more careful scrutiny, than the evidence of adults.

12AB—Pre-trial special hearings

- (1) Subject to this section, if—
- (a) the evidence of a witness to whom this section applies is necessary for the purposes of the trial of a charge of an offence to which this section applies; and
 - (b) the facilities necessary to take the evidence of the witness are readily available to the court and it is otherwise practicable to make arrangements for a special hearing to be convened as a proceeding preliminary to the trial (a pre-trial special hearing); and
 - (c) the arrangements can be made without prejudice to any party to the proceedings, the court should, on application under this section, order that arrangements be made relating to the giving of evidence by the witness at a pre-trial special hearing.

- (2) An order for a pre-trial special hearing—
- (a) must make provision for each of the following matters:
 - (i) that a hearing be convened as a proceeding preliminary to the trial of the charge of the offence for the purpose of taking the evidence of the witness in any setting that the court thinks fit in the circumstances (including an informal setting);
 - (ii) if the witness has a physical disability or cognitive impairment—that the evidence be taken in a particular way (to be specified by the court) that will, in the court's opinion, facilitate the taking of evidence from the witness or minimise the witness's embarrassment or distress (including, if the witness has complex communication needs, with such communication assistance as may be specified by the court);

Note—

Communication assistance for a witness may be provided, for example, by a communication partner or by using a device (such as a speak-and-spell communication device).

- (iii) that an audio visual record of the evidence be made;
 - (iv) that the taking of evidence at the hearing be transmitted to the defendant by means of closed circuit television;
 - (v) if the defendant attends the hearing in person—that appropriate measures be taken to prevent the witness and the defendant from directly seeing or hearing each other before, during or after the hearing; and
- (b) may make provision for the witness to be accompanied at the hearing by a relative, friend or other person for the purpose of providing emotional support; and
- (c) may specify that the hearing is convened for any (or all) of the following purposes:
- (i) examination of the witness;

- (ii) cross-examination of the witness;
 - (iii) re-examination of the witness; and
 - (d) may make provision for any other matter that the court thinks fit.
- (3) An order for a pre-trial special hearing must not be made if the effect of the order would be—
 - (a) to relieve a witness from the obligation to give evidence; or
 - (b) to relieve a witness from the obligation to submit to cross-examination; or
 - (c) to prevent the judge or defendant from observing the witness's demeanour in giving evidence (but the observation may be direct or by live transmission of the witness's voice and image); or
 - (d) to prevent the defendant from instructing counsel while the witness is giving evidence.
- (4) If a witness to whom this section applies is accompanied by a person for the purpose of providing emotional support or communication assistance—
 - (a) the accompanying person must be visible to the judge while the witness is giving evidence; and
 - (b) if the defendant is prevented from seeing the accompanying person directly while the witness is giving evidence—the court must ensure that the defendant is able to observe that person by direct transmission of images of the witness together with that person while the witness is giving evidence; and
 - (c) the audio visual record of the evidence must show the accompanying person throughout the taking of the evidence.
- (5) A person may only provide communication assistance—
 - (a) if the person—
 - (i) is a communication partner or has been approved by the court to provide such assistance to the witness; and
 - (ii) takes an oath or makes an affirmation that he or she will communicate accurately with both the witness and the court; and
 - (b) in a case where a party to the proceedings disputes the person's ability or impartiality in providing communication assistance—if the judge is satisfied as to the person's ability and impartiality.
- (6) The fact that a person has provided communication assistance to a witness in a pre-trial special hearing under this section does not of itself prevent that person also from being called as a witness in the trial of the charge of the offence or in any other relevant proceedings.
- (7) An application for a pre-trial special hearing order must—
 - (a) be made in writing by the party calling the witness to whom this section applies to give evidence; and
 - (b) be filed in the court as a proceeding preliminary to the commencement of the trial; and

- (c) within 14 days of being filed in the court—be served on the other party to the proceedings (the respondent); and
 - (d) specify why the witness is a witness to whom this section applies and the reasons why the special hearing is sought; and
 - (e) otherwise be made in accordance with the rules of court.
- (8) The respondent may, if of the opinion that the witness on whose behalf the application has been made is not in fact a witness to whom this section applies, within 14 days of being served with the application (the prescribed period), file an answering document in the court objecting to the application on that ground.
- (9) If an objection to the application is filed within the prescribed period, the court must determine the application before the commencement of the trial—
- (a) in the absence of the applicant and respondent; or
 - (b) by conducting a hearing in a room closed to the public.
- (10) If no objection to the application is filed within the prescribed period, the court must, subject to subsection (1)(b) and (c), make a pre-trial special hearing order pursuant to this section.
- (11) A pre-trial special hearing order may be made, varied or revoked on the court's own initiative, or on the application of a party to the proceedings.
- (12) A determination or order made by a judge under this section is binding on the judge presiding at the trial of the defendant, whether the trial is the first or a new trial following a stay of the proceedings, discontinuance of an earlier trial or an appeal, unless the trial judge considers that it would not be in the interests of justice for the determination or order to be binding or the determination or order is inconsistent with an order made on such an appeal.
- (13) Subject to section 13BA, an audio visual record of the evidence of a witness made at a pre-trial special hearing is admissible as evidence of the witness in the trial of a charge of an offence to which this section applies.
- (14) In this section—
- trial of a charge of an offence to which this section applies means—
- (a) the trial of a charge of a serious offence against the person; or
 - (b) the trial of a charge of an offence of contravening or failing to comply with an intervention order under the Intervention Orders (Prevention of Abuse) Act 2009; or
 - (c) the trial of a charge of an offence of contravening or failing to comply with a restraining order under the Summary Procedure Act 1921;
- witness to whom this section applies means—
- (a) a young child; or
 - (b) a person with a disability that adversely affects the person's capacity to give a coherent account of the person's experiences or to respond rationally to questions.

13—Special arrangements for protecting witnesses from embarrassment, distress etc when giving evidence

- (1) Subject to this section, if—
- (a) it is desirable to make special arrangements for taking evidence from a witness in a trial in order to protect the witness from embarrassment or distress, to protect the witness from being intimidated by the atmosphere of the courtroom or for any other proper reason; and
 - (b) the facilities necessary for the special arrangements are readily available to the court and it is otherwise practicable to make the special arrangements; and
 - (c) the special arrangements can be made without prejudice to any party to the proceedings, the court should, on its own initiative, order that special arrangements be made for taking the evidence of the witness.

- (2) Without limiting the kind of order that may be made under this section, the court may make 1 or more of the following orders:
- (a) an order that the evidence be given outside the trial court and transmitted to the trial court by means of closed circuit television;
 - (b) an order that the evidence be taken outside the trial court, and that an audio visual record of the evidence be made and replayed in the trial court;
 - (c) an order that a screen, partition or one-way glass be placed to obscure the view of a party to whom the evidence relates or some other person;
 - (d) an order that a defendant be excluded from the place where the evidence is taken, or otherwise be prevented from directly seeing and hearing the witness while giving evidence;
 - (e) an order that the witness be accompanied by a relative or friend for the purpose of providing emotional support;
 - (f) if the witness has a physical disability or cognitive impairment—an order that the evidence be taken in a particular way (to be specified by the court) that will, in the court's opinion, facilitate the taking of evidence from the witness or minimise the witness's embarrassment or distress.
- (3) The court may, if of the opinion that expert evidence would assist the court to determine the special arrangements that should be made for taking the evidence of the witness, receive such evidence and, if the native language of the witness is not English and the witness is not reasonably fluent in English, evidence about any additional difficulty that may be caused by the witness giving evidence through an interpreter.
- (4) Special arrangements made under this section may relate to the witness's evidence as a whole or to particular aspects of the witness's evidence, such as cross-examination and re-examination.
- (5) An order must not be made under this section if the effect of the order would be—
- (a) to relieve a witness from the obligation to give sworn evidence; or
 - (b) to relieve a witness from the obligation to submit to cross-examination; or

- (c) to prevent the judge, jury or defendant from observing the witness's demeanour in giving evidence (but the observation may be direct or by live transmission of the witness's voice and image or by replay of a recording of the witness's voice and image); or
 - (d) to prevent the defendant from instructing counsel while the witness is giving evidence.
- (6) If a witness is accompanied by a relative or friend for the purpose of providing emotional support, that person must be visible to the judge and jury (if any) while the witness is giving evidence and, if, in consequence of an order under this section, a party is prevented from seeing that person directly while the witness gives evidence, the court must ensure that the party is able to observe that person either—
- (a) by direct transmission of images of the witness together with that person while the witness is giving evidence; or
 - (b) by the later replay of a recording of images of the witness together with that person made while the witness was giving evidence.
- (7) If, in a criminal trial, a court makes special arrangements for taking the evidence of a witness, the judge must warn the jury not to draw from that fact any inference adverse to the defendant, and not to allow the special arrangements to influence the weight to be given to the evidence.
- (8) An order under this section may be made, varied or revoked on the court's own initiative, or on the application of a party or witness.

13A—Special arrangements for protecting vulnerable witnesses when giving evidence in criminal proceedings

- (1) Subject to this section, if—
- (a) a vulnerable witness is to give evidence in criminal proceedings; and
 - (b) the facilities necessary for the special arrangements are readily available to the court and it is otherwise practicable to make the special arrangements; and
 - (c) the special arrangements can be made without prejudice to any party to the proceedings,
- the court must, on application under this section, order that special arrangements be made for taking the evidence of the witness.
- (2) Without limiting the kind of order that may be made under this section, the court may make 1 or more of the following orders:
- (a) an order that the evidence be given outside the trial court and transmitted to the trial court by means of closed circuit television;
 - (b) an order that the evidence be taken outside the trial court, and that an audio visual record of the evidence be made and replayed in the trial court;
 - (c) an order that a screen, partition or one-way glass be placed to obscure the view of a party to whom the evidence relates or some other person;
 - (d) an order that a defendant be excluded from the place where the evidence is taken, or otherwise be prevented from directly seeing and hearing the vulnerable witness while giving evidence;

- (e) an order that the evidence be taken in a particular way (to be specified by the court) that will, in the court's opinion, facilitate the taking of evidence from the vulnerable witness or minimise the witness's embarrassment or distress, including (for example)—
 - (i) that the witness be accompanied by a relative, friend or other person for the purpose of providing emotional support; and
 - (ii) if the witness has a physical disability or cognitive impairment—that the evidence be taken in a particular way (to be specified by the court) that will, in the court's opinion, facilitate the taking of evidence from the witness or minimise the witness's embarrassment or distress (including, if the witness has complex communication needs, with such communication assistance as may be specified by the court); and

Communication assistance for a vulnerable witness with complex communication needs may be provided, for example, by a communication partner or by using a device (such as a speak-and-spell communication device).

- (iii) that extra allowance be made for breaks during, and time to be given for, the taking of evidence; and
 - (iv) that, while the evidence is being taken, the judge and any lawyer present in the court not wear a wig or gown (or both).
- (3) Special arrangements made under this section may relate to the vulnerable witness's evidence as a whole or to particular aspects of the witness's evidence, such as cross-examination and re-examination.
 - (4) An order must not be made under this section if the effect of the order would be—
 - (a) to relieve a vulnerable witness from the obligation to give sworn evidence; or
 - (b) to relieve a vulnerable witness from the obligation to submit to cross-examination; or
 - (c) to prevent the judge, jury or defendant from observing the vulnerable witness's demeanour in giving evidence (but the observation may be direct or by live transmission of the witness's voice and image or by replay of a recording of the witness's voice and image); or
 - (d) to prevent the defendant from instructing counsel while the vulnerable witness is giving evidence.
 - (5) If a vulnerable witness is accompanied by a person for the purpose of providing emotional support or communication assistance, that person must be visible to the judge and jury (if any) while the witness is giving evidence and, if, in consequence of an order under this section, a party is prevented from seeing that person directly while the witness gives evidence, the court must ensure that the party is able to observe that person either—
 - (a) by direct transmission of images of the witness together with that person while the witness is giving evidence; or

- (b) by the later replay of a recording of images of the witness together with that person made while the witness was giving evidence.
- (5a) A person may only provide communication assistance to a witness—
- (a) if the person—
 - (i) is a communication partner or has been approved by the court to provide such assistance to the witness; and
 - (ii) takes an oath or makes an affirmation that he or she will communicate accurately with both the witness and the court; and
 - (b) in a case where a party to the proceedings disputes the person's ability or impartiality in providing communication assistance—if the judge is satisfied as to the person's ability and impartiality.
- (5b) The fact that a person has provided communication assistance to a witness in proceedings under this section does not of itself prevent that person also from being called as a witness to give evidence in the proceedings or in any other relevant proceedings.
- (6) An application for an order under this section must—
- (a) be made in writing by the party calling the vulnerable witness to give evidence; and
 - (b) be filed in the court before the commencement of the trial; and
 - (c) within 14 days of being filed in the court—be served on the other party to the proceedings (the respondent); and
 - (d) specify the nature of the vulnerability of the witness, the special arrangements sought and the reasons for the arrangements; and
 - (e) otherwise be made in accordance with the rules of court.
- (7) The respondent may, if of the opinion that the witness on whose behalf the application has been made is not in fact a vulnerable witness, within 14 days of being served with the application (the prescribed period), file an answering document in the court objecting to the application on that ground.
- (8) If an objection to the application is filed within the prescribed period, the court must determine the application before the commencement of the trial—
- (a) in the absence of the applicant and respondent; or
 - (b) by conducting a hearing in a room closed to the public.
- (9) The court may, if of the opinion that expert evidence would assist the court to determine the special arrangements that should be made for taking the evidence of the vulnerable witness, receive such evidence and, if the native language of the witness is not English and the witness is not reasonably fluent in English, evidence about any additional difficulty that may be caused by the witness giving evidence through an interpreter.
- (10) If no objection to the application is filed within the prescribed period, the court may order that appropriate special arrangements be made for taking the evidence of the vulnerable witness at the trial.

- (11) The court—
- (a) may dispense with special arrangements for taking the evidence of a vulnerable witness in criminal proceedings if—
 - (i) the witness is an adult; and
 - (ii) the court is satisfied that—
 - (A) the facilities necessary for the special arrangements are not readily available to the court; and
 - (B) taking into account the following matters, it is not reasonably practicable to make the facilities available:
 - the cost, inconvenience and delay involved in procuring the necessary facilities or in adjourning to some other place where the necessary facilities are available;
 - the urgency of the proceedings; and
 - (b) must give reasons for its decision.
- (12) If, in a criminal trial, a court makes special arrangements for taking the evidence of a vulnerable witness, the judge must warn the jury not to draw from that fact any inference adverse to the defendant, and not to allow the special arrangements to influence the weight to be given to the evidence.
- (13) An order under this section may be made, varied or revoked on the court's own initiative, or on the application of a party to the proceedings.

13B—Cross-examination of certain witnesses

- (1) A defendant is not to be permitted to cross-examine a witness who is the alleged victim of an offence to which this section applies—
- (a) in a criminal trial (whether or not related to the offence) unless the cross-examination is by counsel;
 - (b) in civil proceedings relating to the offence unless—
 - (i) the cross-examination is by counsel; or
 - (ii) if the defendant is not legally represented in the proceedings—to be undertaken—
 - (A) by the defendant submitting to the judge, in the manner required by the judge, the questions the defendant proposes the witness be asked in cross-examination and the judge (or the judge's delegate) asking the witness those of the questions submitted that are determined by the judge to be allowable in cross-examination; or
 - (B) as otherwise directed by the judge.
- (3) If a defendant is not legally represented in a criminal trial that will involve the taking of evidence from any such witness, the court must ensure that the defendant—
- (a) has been warned of the limitation on the right of cross-examination imposed by this section; and

- (b) has been informed—
 - (i) that he or she may be entitled to legal assistance under the Legal Services Commission Act 1977;
 - (ii) in any case—of his or her rights under the Criminal Law (Legal Representation) Act 2001 to obtain the assistance of counsel for the purpose of cross-examining the witness; and
 - (c) has had a reasonable opportunity to obtain the assistance of counsel before the evidence is taken.
- (4) If, in a criminal trial, an unrepresented defendant obtains the assistance of counsel for the purpose of cross-examining such a witness, the judge must—
- (a) explain to the jury the limitation imposed by this section on the defendant's right to personally cross-examine the witness; and
 - (b) warn the jury that no adverse inference may be drawn against the defendant from the requirement for the unrepresented defendant to obtain the assistance of counsel to cross-examine the witness.
- (5) In this section—
- offence to which this section applies means—
- (aa) an offence under section 24 of the Criminal Law Consolidation Act 1935; or
 - (a) a serious offence against the person; or
 - (ab) an aggravated offence under section 20 of the Criminal Law Consolidation Act 1935, where the aggravating circumstances of the offence are the circumstances referred to in section 5AA(1)(g) of that Act; or
 - (b) an offence of contravening or failing to comply with an intervention order under the Intervention Orders (Prevention of Abuse) Act 2009; or
 - (c) an offence of contravening or failing to comply with a restraining order under the Summary Procedure Act 1921.

13BA—Admissibility of recorded evidence by certain witnesses in certain criminal proceedings

- (1) Subject to this section, the court may, in the trial of a charge of an offence order that the evidence of a witness be admitted in the form of an audio visual record.
- (2) An application for an order under subsection (1) must—
 - (a) be made in writing by the party wishing to have the audio visual record of the evidence admitted in the trial; and
 - (b) be filed in the court; and
 - (c) within 14 days of being filed in the court—be served on the other party to the proceedings (the respondent); and
 - (d) otherwise be made in accordance with the rules of court.
- (3) An audio visual record of the evidence of a witness may be admitted under this section if—
 - (a) the recording has been made pursuant to—

- (i) section 12AB; or
 - (ii) Part 17 Division 3 of the Summary Offences Act 1953; and
 - (b) the court is satisfied as to the witness's capacity to give sworn or unsworn evidence at the time the recording was made; and
 - (c) the court is satisfied that the respondent has been given a reasonable opportunity to view the recording; and
 - (d) during the course of the trial, the witness is available, if required, for further examination, cross-examination or re-examination.
- (4) The court's discretion to exclude evidence is not affected by subsection (3) and the court may—
- (a) rule as inadmissible the whole or any part of the recording; or
 - (b) before admitting the recording, order that it be edited so as to exclude evidence that is inadmissible for any reason.
- (5) Despite subsection (3)(d), the witness cannot be further examined, cross-examined or re-examined on the evidence admitted in the trial without the permission of the court which may only be given, on application by a party to the proceedings—
- (a) if the court is satisfied that a party to the proceedings has, since the making of the audio visual record, become aware of a matter of which the party could not reasonably have been aware at the time the record was made; or
 - (b) if the witness gives evidence in the trial apart from or in addition to evidence admitted under this section in the form of an audio visual record and the court is satisfied that it is in the interests of justice that the witness be further examined, cross-examined or re-examined; or
 - (c) if the court is satisfied that it is otherwise in the interests of justice to permit the witness to be further examined, cross-examined or re-examined.
- (6) If a court admits evidence in the form of an audio visual record under this section, the judge must—
- (a) explain to the jury that the law allows the court to admit evidence in this form; and
 - (b) warn the jury—
 - (i) not to draw from the admission of evidence in that form any inference adverse to the defendant; and
 - (ii) not to allow the admission of evidence in that form to influence the weight to be given to the evidence.

13BB—Admissibility of recorded evidence in domestic violence proceedings

- (1) This section applies in addition to section 13BA and any other law allowing evidence to be admitted in the form of a recording.
- (2) In proceedings for a domestic violence offence, the evidence of a complainant may be admitted in the form of a recording made by a police officer—
 - (a) if—

- (i) the evidence is in the form of a prescribed recording; and
 - (ii) the court is satisfied as to the complainant's capacity to give sworn or unsworn evidence at the time the recording was made; and
 - (iii) the court is satisfied that the defendant has been given a reasonable opportunity to listen to or view the recording; and
 - (iv) during the course of the trial, the complainant is available, if required, for further examination, cross-examination or re-examination; or
 - (b) if the court is satisfied that the interests of justice require the admission of the evidence (whether or not any of the requirements specified in paragraph (a) are satisfied).
- (3) The court's discretion to exclude evidence is not affected by this section and the court may—
- (a) rule as inadmissible the whole or any part of the recording; or
 - (b) before admitting the recording, order that it be edited so as to exclude evidence that is inadmissible for any reason.
- (4) Despite subsection (2)(a)(iv) but subject to subsections (5) and (6), the complainant cannot be further examined, cross-examined or re-examined on the evidence admitted in the trial without the permission of the court which may only be given, on application by a party to the proceedings, if—
- (a) the court is satisfied that a party to the proceedings has, since the making of the recording, become aware of a matter of which the party could not reasonably have been aware at the time the recording was made; or
 - (b) the complainant gives evidence in the trial apart from, or in addition to, evidence admitted under this section in the form of a recording and the court is satisfied that it is in the interests of justice that the complainant be further examined, cross-examined or re-examined; or
 - (c) the court is satisfied that it is otherwise in the interests of justice to permit the complainant to be further examined, cross-examined or re-examined.
- (5) The prosecution may, with the permission of the court and in accordance with any directions of the court, question the complainant about—
- (a) evidence given by the complainant that is unfavourable to the prosecution case; or
 - (b) a matter of which the complainant may reasonably be supposed to have knowledge and about which it appears to the court the complainant is not, in examination-in-chief, making a genuine attempt to give evidence; or
 - (c) whether the complainant has, at any time, made a prior inconsistent statement,
- (and, for the avoidance of doubt, the requirements of subsection (4)(a), (b) and (c) do not apply to the giving of permission under this subsection).
- (6) Questioning under subsection (5) must be conducted as if it were (and is, for the purposes of this Act other than provisions relating to re-examination, taken to be) cross-examination.

- (7) Subsections (5) and (6) apply in addition to section 27.
- (8) If a court admits evidence in the form of a recording under this section, the judge must—
- (a) explain to the jury that the law allows the court to admit evidence in this form; and
 - (b) warn the jury—
 - (i) not to draw from the admission of evidence in that form any inference adverse to the defendant; and
 - (ii) not to allow the admission of evidence in that form to influence the weight to be given to the evidence.
- (9) Without limiting section 73, the regulations may—
- (a) prescribe additional requirements in relation to recordings under this section; and
 - (b) require that additional material be provided to the court with a recording in certain circumstances (such as a transcript or translation); and
 - (c) prescribe requirements in relation to access to, or service of, recordings and other material; and
 - (d) prescribe requirements in relation to custody of recordings; and
 - (e) impose restrictions on copying or distribution of recordings.

- (10) In this section—

complainant, in proceedings for a domestic violence offence, means the person against whom the domestic violence offence is alleged to have been committed, but does not include a person who—

- (a) is under 16 years of age; or
- (b) is cognitively impaired;

domestic violence offence means any offence involving domestic abuse (within the meaning of the Intervention Orders (Prevention of Abuse) Act 2009);

informed consent means consent given in accordance with requirements prescribed by the regulations; prescribed recording means a recording made by a police officer of a representation made by a complainant when the complainant was questioned by a police officer in connection with the investigation of the commission of a domestic violence offence where—

- (a) the questioning occurred as soon as practicable after the commission of the offence; and
- (b) the recording was made with the informed consent of the complainant; and
- (c) the recording contains the following statements by the complainant:
 - (i) a statement as to the complainant's age;
 - (ii) a statement as to the truth of the representation;

(iii) any other matter required by the regulations or by rules of court; recording means an audio record or an audio visual record.

13C—Court's power to make audio visual record of evidence of vulnerable witnesses in criminal proceedings

- (1) If a vulnerable witness is to give evidence in criminal proceedings, the following provisions apply:
 - (a) in the case of a vulnerable witness who is a child of or under the age of 16 years and who is the alleged victim of a sexual offence—the court must order that an audio visual record be made of the witness's evidence before the court (unless an order has already been made in respect of the witness's evidence under section 12AB(2)(a) or 13A(2)(b));
 - (b) in the case of any other vulnerable witness—the court may, on application by the prosecution, order that an audio visual record be made of the witness's evidence before the court if—
 - (i) the facilities necessary for making an audio visual record of the evidence are readily available to the court; and
 - (ii) it is otherwise practicable to make such a record.
- (2) Subject to subsection (3), an audio visual record of evidence (whether made by order under this section, section 12AB(2)(a) or 13A(2)(b)) is to be kept in the custody of the court.
- (2a) Rules of court may be made regulating access to, and responsibility for, an audio visual record in the custody of the court.
- (3) The court (or a superior court) may authorise a person to take custody of the audio visual record of evidence, or to have some other form of access to it, if satisfied that the custody or access is reasonably necessary for the purposes of related proceedings that have been commenced or are in contemplation.
- (4) Despite any other law, access to an audio visual record of evidence is not to be allowed except as provided by this section.

13D—Court's power to admit evidence taken in earlier proceedings

- (1) If, on application by a party to civil or criminal proceedings before a court, the court is satisfied that—
 - (a) evidence given by a witness in earlier criminal proceedings is relevant to the proceedings before the court; and
 - (b) the witness—
 - (i) has died; or
 - (ii) has become too ill or infirm to give evidence; or
 - (iii) has not, after diligent search, been found; or
 - (iv) is a vulnerable witness, the court in the later proceedings has a discretion to admit an official record of the evidence.

- (2) An official record of evidence is a record made at the direction or with the approval of the court before which the evidence was taken and, if an audio or audio visual record of the evidence was taken at the direction or with the approval of the court, in addition to a written transcript, the official record of evidence includes the audio or audio visual record.
- (3) Before the court admits an official record into evidence in proceedings under this section, the record must be edited—
 - (a) as agreed between the parties to those proceedings so as to exclude material that is not relevant to those proceedings; and
 - (b) so as to exclude evidence that is inadmissible in those proceedings for any other reason.
- (4) If the court admits an official record into evidence under this section, it may relieve the witness, wholly or in part, from an obligation to give evidence in the later proceedings.

14—Entitlement of a witness to be assisted by an interpreter

- (1) Where—
 - (a) the native language of a witness who is to give oral evidence in any proceedings is not English; and
 - (b) the witness is not reasonably fluent in English,the witness is entitled to give that evidence through an interpreter.
- (1a) A person may only act as an interpreter—
 - (a) if the person takes an oath or makes an affirmation to interpret accurately; and
 - (b) in a case where a party to the proceeding disputes the person's ability or impartiality as an interpreter, if the judge is satisfied as to the person's ability and impartiality.
- (2) An affidavit or other written deposition in a language other than English shall be received in evidence in the same circumstances as an affidavit or other written deposition in English if it has annexed to it—
 - (a) a translation of its contents into English; and
 - (b) an affidavit by the translator to the effect that the translation accurately reproduces in English the contents of the original.

14A—Entitlement of witness to be given communication assistance in certain circumstances

- (1) Subject to this section, if—
 - (a) a witness in proceedings is a person with complex communication needs; and
 - (b) assistance of a kind to meet the needs of the witness with understanding and communicating with the court during proceedings is readily available and it is otherwise practicable to make the assistance available,the court may, on application under this section or on its own initiative, order that the evidence be given by the witness using assistance of a kind specified in the order (communication assistance).

- (2) An order under this section need not be made in respect of a witness if the court is satisfied that the witness is able to understand and communicate with the court during the proceedings, including the ability to answer questions put orally and respond to them.
- (3) Without limiting the kind of order that may be made under this section, the court may make 1 or more of the following orders:
 - (a) an order that the witness be accompanied by a communication partner;
 - (b) an order that the witness use a device or device of a kind, approved by the court, for the purpose of facilitating the taking of evidence from the witness;
 - (c) an order that the evidence be taken in some other particular way (to be specified by the court) that will, in the court's opinion, facilitate the taking of evidence from the witness.
- (4) A person may only provide communication assistance to a witness—
 - (a) if the person—
 - (i) is a communication partner or has been approved by the court to provide such assistance to the witness; and
 - (ii) takes an oath or makes an affirmation that he or she will communicate accurately with both the witness and the court; and
 - (b) in a case where a party to the proceeding disputes the person's ability or impartiality in providing communication assistance—if the judge is satisfied as to the person's ability and impartiality.

15—Witness not disqualified by interest or crime

No person shall be excluded from giving evidence on the ground—

- (a) that he has or may have an interest in the matter in question or in the event of the proceeding, or
- (b) that he has previously been convicted of any crime or offence.

16—Parties, their wives and husbands competent and compellable in civil proceedings

In any proceeding not being a criminal proceeding the parties thereto and the persons on whose behalf such proceeding is brought or defended, and the husbands and wives of such parties or persons respectively, shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be competent and compellable to give evidence on behalf of either or any of the parties to such proceeding.

18—Accused persons competent to give evidence

- (1) Every person charged with an offence shall be a competent witness for the defence at every stage of the proceedings, whether the person so charged is charged solely or jointly with any other person: Provided as follows:
 - (a) a person so charged shall not be called as a witness in pursuance of this Act except upon his own application;
 - (b) the failure of any person charged with an offence to give evidence shall not be made the subject of any comment by the prosecution;

- (c) a person charged and being a witness in pursuance of this Act may be asked any question in cross-examination notwithstanding that it would tend to criminate him as to the offence charged;
 - (d) a person charged and called as a witness in pursuance of this Act shall not be asked, and if asked, shall not be required to answer, any question tending to show that he has committed or been convicted of or been charged with any offence other than that wherewith he is then charged, or is of bad character, unless—
 - (i) the evidence to be elicited by the question is admissible as tending to show that he is guilty or not guilty of the offence with which he is charged; or
 - (ii) he has personally or by his advocate asked questions of the witnesses for the prosecution with a view to establish his own good character or has given evidence of his good character; or
 - (iii) he forfeits the protection of this paragraph by virtue of subsection (2); or
 - (iv) he has given evidence against any other person charged with the same offence;
 - (e) every person called as a witness in pursuance of this Act shall, unless otherwise ordered by the court, give his evidence from the witness box or other place from which the other witnesses give their evidence;
 - (f) nothing herein contained shall affect the provisions of section 110 of the Justices Act 1921.
- (2) A defendant forfeits the protection of subsection (1)(d) if—
- (a) the nature or conduct of the defence is such as to involve imputations on the character of the prosecutor or a witness for the prosecution; and
 - (b) the imputations are not such as would necessarily arise from a proper presentation of the defence.
- (3) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (2), a defendant does not forfeit the protection of subsection (1)(d) by reason of imputations on the character of the prosecutor or a witness for the prosecution arising from evidence of the conduct of the prosecutor or witness—
- (a) in the events or circumstances on which the charge is based; or
 - (b) in the investigation of those events or circumstances, or in assembling evidence in support of the charge; or
 - (c) in the course of the trial, or proceedings preliminary to the trial.

18A—Abolition of right to make unsworn statement

A person charged with an offence is not entitled to make at the trial for the offence any unsworn statement of fact in defence of the charge (except in the course of giving unsworn evidence under section 9).

21—Competence and compellability of witnesses

- (1) A close relative of a person charged with an offence is competent and compellable to give evidence for the defence and, subject to this section, is competent and compellable to give evidence for the prosecution.
- (2) If a person is charged with an offence and a close relative of the accused is required by law (whether by subpoena or other process) to give evidence against the accused in any proceedings related to the charge (including proceedings for the grant, variation or revocation of bail, or an appeal at which fresh evidence is to be taken), the prospective witness may apply to the court for an exemption from the requirement to give evidence against the accused in the proceedings.
- (3) If, on an application under subsection (2), the court considers that—
 - (a) if the prospective witness were to give evidence, or evidence of a particular kind, against the accused, there would be a substantial risk of—
 - (i) serious harm to the relationship between the prospective witness and the accused; or
 - (ii) serious harm of a material, emotional or psychological nature to the prospective witness; and
 - (b) having regard to the nature and gravity of the alleged offence and the importance to the proceedings of the evidence that the prospective witness is in a position to give, there is insufficient justification for exposing the prospective witness to that risk,the court may exempt the prospective witness (wholly or in part) from the requirement to give evidence against the accused in the proceedings before the court.
- (4) A court may, on its own initiative, grant an exemption under subsection (3) where no application has been made under subsection (2) if—
 - (a) the prospective witness who is required by law to give evidence against the accused is a young child or is cognitively impaired; and
 - (b) the court is of the opinion that such an exemption should be granted.
- (5) Despite subsection (4), in proceedings in which a close relative of an accused person is called as a witness against the accused, the court is not required to make any inquiry about whether the prospective witness—
 - (a) is aware of his or her right to apply for an exemption under this section; or
 - (b) is incapable (whether by reason of age or some other reason) of understanding his or her right to apply for an exemption under this section.
- (6) If a court is constituted of a judge and jury—
 - (a) an application for an exemption under this section must be heard and determined by the judge in the absence of the jury; and
 - (b) the following matters may not be made the subject of a question put to a witness in the presence of the jury or of any comment to the jury by counsel or the judge:
 - (i) whether or not a person applied for an exemption under this section;

- (ii) whether or not the court considered granting an exemption under this section;
 - (iii) whether a person has been granted or refused an exemption under this section.
- (7) A decision or order of a court made under this section, or the failure of a court to make an inquiry under subsection (5), does not give rise to a ground of appeal under section 157(1)(a)(i) or (ii) of the Criminal Procedure Act 1921.
- (8) This section does not operate to make a person who has been charged with an offence compellable to give evidence in proceedings related to that charge.
- (9) In this section—
- close relative* of an accused person means a spouse, domestic partner, parent or child.

22—Certain questions may be disallowed

In any proceeding in any court, whether civil or criminal, the judge may disallow any questions put in cross-examination of any party or other witness which may appear to him to be vexatious and not relevant to any matter proper to be inquired into in the proceeding.

23—Rules as to relevancy

In deciding whether a question affecting the credibility of a witness is relevant, or ought to be allowed, the judge shall have regard to the following considerations:

- (a) such questions are proper if they are of such a nature that the truth of the imputation conveyed by them would seriously affect the opinion of the court as to the credibility of the witness on the matter to which he testifies;
- (b) such questions are improper if the imputation which they convey relates to matters so remote in time, or of such a character, that the truth of the imputation would not affect, or would affect only in a slight degree, the opinion of the court as to the credibility of the witness on the matter to which he testifies;
- (c) such questions are improper if there is a great disproportion between the importance of the imputation made against the witness's character and the importance of his evidence.

24—Disallowance of certain questions in cross-examination

- (1) If any question put to a witness upon cross-examination relates to a matter not relevant to the proceeding, except in so far as it affects the credit of the witness by injuring his character, it shall be the duty of the court to decide whether or not the witness shall be compelled to answer it, and the court may, if it thinks fit, inform the witness that he is not obliged to answer it.
- (2) In exercising this discretion the court shall have regard to the considerations referred to in section 23.

25—Disallowance of inappropriate questions

- (1) A question is an inappropriate question if—
 - (a) the question is misleading or confusing; or

- (ab) the question is expressed in language that is unnecessarily complicated; or
 - (b) the question is apparently based on a stereotype, including a sexual, racial, ethnic or cultural stereotype or a stereotype based on age or physical or mental disability; or
 - (c) the question is unnecessarily repetitive, offensive or oppressive, or is 1 of a series of questions that is unnecessarily repetitive, offensive or oppressive; or
 - (d) the question is put in a humiliating, insulting or otherwise inappropriate manner or tone.
- (2) A question is not, however, inappropriate only because—
- (a) it challenges the truthfulness of the witness, or the consistency or accuracy of statements made by the witness; or
 - (b) it deals with matters the witness would find distasteful or intrudes on the witness's privacy.
- (3) If an inappropriate question is put to a witness in cross-examination, the court must—
- (a) disallow the question; and
 - (b) inform the witness that the question need not be answered.
- (4) In determining whether a question is inappropriate, the court may take into account—
- (a) the age, personality and educational level of the witness; and
 - (b) any physical disability or cognitive impairment of the witness; and
 - (c) the witness's ethnic and cultural background; and
 - (d) any other characteristics of the witness that may be relevant; and
 - (e) the context in which the question is put, including—
 - (i) the nature of the proceedings and, if the proceedings are criminal proceedings, the nature of the offence to which they relate; and
 - (ii) the relationship (if any) between the witness and a party to the proceedings; and
 - (f) any other relevant factor.
- (5) The failure to exercise the discretion in relation to a question does not affect the admissibility of any answer given in response to the question.

25A—Abolition of oath belief rule

The rule of law or practice known as the oath belief rule that allows a witness in a trial to be questioned and express an opinion about whether the evidence given on oath by another witness in court is credible is abolished.

Note—

See R v J, SM [2013] SASFC 96

26—Proof of previous conviction of witness may be given

A witness may, subject to any other provisions of this Act, be questioned as to whether he has been convicted of any offence, and upon being so questioned, if he either denies or does not admit the fact, or refuses to answer, it shall be lawful for the cross-examining party to prove such conviction.

27—How far a party may discredit his or her own witness

A party producing a witness shall not be allowed to impeach his credit by general evidence of bad character; but if the judge is of opinion that the witness is adverse, the party may—

- (a) contradict the witness by other evidence; or
- (b) with the permission of the judge, prove that the witness has made, at any other time, a statement inconsistent with his present testimony: Provided that, before giving such last-mentioned proof, the circumstances of the supposed statement sufficient to designate the particular occasion, must be mentioned to the witness, and he must be asked whether or not he has made the statement.

28—Proof of contradictory statements of adverse witness

If any witness, upon cross-examination as to a former statement made by him, relative to the subject matter of the cause, and inconsistent with his present testimony, does not distinctly admit that he has made the statement, proof may be given that he did in fact make it; but before such proof can be given, the circumstances of the supposed statement, sufficient to designate the particular occasion, must be mentioned to the witness, and he must be asked whether or not he has made the statement.

29—Cross-examination as to previous statements in writing

A witness may be cross-examined as to previous statements made by him in writing, or reduced into writing, relative to the subject matter of the cause, without the writing being shown to him; but if it is intended to contradict the witness by the writing, his attention must, before such contradictory proof can be given, be called to those parts of the writing which are to be used for the purpose of so contradicting him: Provided always, that the judge, at any time during the trial, may require the production of the writing for his inspection; and may thereupon make such use of it, for the purposes of the trial, as he thinks fit.

29A—Victim or alleged victim who is a witness entitled to be present in court unless court orders otherwise

- (1) A court in a criminal proceeding may only order a victim, or alleged victim, of the offence who is a witness in the proceeding to leave the courtroom until required to give evidence if the court considers it appropriate to do so, whether to ensure a fair trial or for any other reason.
- (2) Nothing in this section prevents a court from ordering a victim, or alleged victim, who is a witness in the proceeding to leave the courtroom at any time after giving evidence if the court considers it appropriate to do so.

Part 3—Miscellaneous rules of evidence

Division 1—Miscellaneous rules of evidence in general cases

30—As to comparison of disputed writing

Comparison of a disputed writing with any writing proved to the satisfaction of the judge to be genuine shall be permitted to be made by witnesses; and such writings, and the evidence of witnesses respecting the same, may be submitted to the court as evidence of the genuineness or otherwise of the writing in dispute.

31—Attesting witness need not be called in certain cases

It shall not be necessary to prove, by the attesting witness, any instrument to the validity of which attestation is not requisite; and such instrument may be proved by admission or otherwise, as if there had been no attesting witness thereto.

33—Disclosure in action for defamation

- (1) A person who is required to answer a question, or to disclose or produce a document or thing, in civil proceedings for defamation is not excused from answering the question or disclosing or producing the document or thing on the ground that the answer to the question or the disclosure or production of the document or thing might tend to incriminate the person of an offence.
- (2) However, any answer given to a question, or document or thing disclosed or produced, by a natural person in compliance with the requirement is not admissible in evidence against the person in any other action or proceedings.

34—Admissions by accused persons

A person may admit on his trial any fact alleged or sought to be proved against him, and such admission shall be sufficient proof of the fact without other evidence: Provided that the admission shall be made by the accused either personally or by his counsel or solicitor in his presence, or, in the case of a body corporate, by its counsel or solicitor.

34A—Proof of commission of offence

Where a person has been convicted of an offence or found by a court exercising criminal jurisdiction to have committed an offence and the commission of the offence is in issue or relevant to an issue in a civil proceeding, the conviction or finding is evidence of the commission of the offence and admissible in the proceeding against the person or a party claiming through or under the person.

34AB—Identification evidence

- (1) In a criminal trial, evidence of the identity of a person alleged to have committed an offence is not inadmissible, and is not to be excluded, merely because it was obtained other than by means of an identity parade involving a physical line-up of persons.
- (2) In a criminal trial, evidence of the identity of a person alleged to have committed an offence obtained by means of an identity parade is to be excluded unless—
 - (a) —

- (i) an audio visual record of the identity parade is made and kept in accordance with the regulations; and
 - (ii) if the regulations prescribe procedures for the conduct of an identity parade—the identity parade is conducted in accordance with the prescribed procedures; or
- (b) the judge is satisfied that the interests of justice require the admission of the evidence despite the failure to comply with paragraph (a).
- (3) In a criminal trial where the identity of a person alleged to have committed an offence is in issue, the judge must, if evidence of the identity of the person is admitted, inform the jury—
 - (a) of the need for caution before accepting identification evidence; and
 - (b) of the reasons for the need for caution, both generally and in the circumstances of the case.
- (4) In giving any such information, the judge is not required to use any particular form of words but may not suggest that identification evidence obtained from an identity parade by any means other than by a physical line-up of persons is inherently or intrinsically less reliable than evidence obtained from an identity parade by such means.
- (5) To avoid doubt, this section does not—
 - (a) make evidence admissible that would otherwise be inadmissible; or
 - (b) affect the court's discretion to exclude evidence.
- (6) In this section—

identity parade means a contemporaneous presentation (whether by a physical line-up or by means of images) of a number of persons to a witness for the purpose of identifying a person.

34C—Admissibility of documentary evidence as to facts in issue

- (1) In any civil proceedings where direct oral evidence of a fact would be admissible, any statement made by a person in a document and tending to establish that fact shall, on production of the original document, be admissible as evidence of that fact if the following conditions are satisfied, that is to say—
 - (a) if the maker of the statement either—
 - (i) had personal knowledge of the matters dealt with by the statement; or
 - (ii) where the document in question is or forms part of a record purporting to be a continuous record, made the statement (in so far as the matters dealt with thereby are not within his personal knowledge) in the performance of a duty to record information supplied to him by a person who had, or might reasonably be supposed to have, personal knowledge of those matters; and
 - (b) if the maker of the statement is called as a witness in the proceedings.

- (1a) However, the condition that the maker of the statement shall be called as a witness need not be satisfied if he is dead, or unfit by reason of his bodily or mental condition to attend as a witness, or if he is beyond the seas and it is not reasonably practicable to secure his attendance, or if all reasonable efforts to find him have been made without success.
- (2) In any civil proceedings, the court may at any stage of the proceedings, if having regard to all the circumstances of the case it is satisfied that undue delay or expense would otherwise be caused, order that such a statement as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section shall be admissible as evidence or may, without any such order having been made, admit such a statement in evidence—
 - (a) notwithstanding that the maker of the statement is available but is not called as a witness;
 - (b) notwithstanding that the original document is not produced, if in lieu thereof there is produced a copy of the original document or of the material part thereof certified to be a true copy in such manner as may be specified in the order or as the court may approve, as the case may be.
- (3) Nothing in this section shall render admissible as evidence any statement made by a person interested at a time when proceedings were pending or anticipated involving a dispute as to any fact which the statement might tend to establish.
- (4) For the purposes of this section, a statement in a document shall not be deemed to have been made by a person unless the document or the material part thereof was written, made or produced by him with his own hand, or was signed or initialled by him or otherwise recognised by him in writing as one for the accuracy of which he is responsible.
- (5) For the purpose of deciding whether or not a statement is admissible as evidence by virtue of the foregoing provisions, the court may draw any reasonable inference from the form or contents of the document in which the statement is contained, or from any other circumstances, and may, in deciding whether or not a person is fit to attend as a witness, act on a certificate purporting to be the certificate of a legally qualified medical practitioner and where the proceedings are with a jury, the court may in its discretion reject the statement notwithstanding that the requirements of this section are satisfied with respect thereto, if for any reason it appears to it to be inexpedient in the interests of justice that the statement should be admitted.

34CB—Direction relating to delay where defendant forensically disadvantaged

- (1) A rule of law or practice obliging a judge in a trial of a charge of an offence to give a warning of a kind known as a Longman warning is abolished.

Note—

See Longman v The Queen (1989) 168 CLR 79

- (2) If, in a trial of a charge of an offence, the court is of the opinion that the period of time that has elapsed between the alleged offending and the trial has resulted in a significant forensic disadvantage to the defendant, the judge must—
 - (a) explain to the jury the nature of the forensic disadvantage; and
 - (b) direct that the jury must take the forensic disadvantage into account when scrutinising the evidence.

- (3) An explanation or direction under subsection (2) may not take the form of a warning and—
- (a) must be specific to the circumstances of the particular case; and
 - (b) must not include the phrase "dangerous or unsafe to convict" or similar words or phrases.

34D—Weight to be attached to evidence

- (1) In estimating the weight, if any, to be attached to a statement rendered admissible as evidence by this Act, regard shall be had to all the circumstances from which any inference can reasonably be drawn as to the accuracy or otherwise of the statement, and in particular to the question whether or not the statement was made contemporaneously with the occurrence or existence of the facts stated, and to the question whether or not the maker of the statement had any incentive to conceal or misrepresent facts.
- (2) For the purpose of any rule of law or practice requiring evidence to be corroborated or regulating the manner in which uncorroborated evidence is to be treated, a statement rendered admissible as evidence by this Act shall not be treated as corroboration of evidence given by the maker of the statement.

34E—Proof of instrument to validity of which attestation is necessary

Subject as hereinafter provided, in any proceedings, whether civil or criminal, an instrument to the validity of which attestation is requisite may, instead of being proved by an attesting witness, be proved in the manner in which it might be proved if no attesting witness were alive: Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to the proof of wills or other testamentary documents.

34F—Presumptions as to documents twenty years old

In any proceedings, whether civil or criminal, there shall, in the case of a document proved, or purporting, to be not less than twenty years old, be made any presumption which immediately before the commencement of this Act would have been made in the case of a document of like character proved, or purporting, to be not less than thirty years old.

34G—Interpretation and savings

- (1) In sections 34C to 34F (inclusive) of this Act—
- document* includes books, maps, plans, drawings and photographs;
- statement* includes any representation of fact, whether made in words or otherwise;
- proceedings* includes arbitrations and references, and court shall be construed accordingly.
- (2) Nothing in sections 34C to 34F (inclusive) of this Act shall—
- (a) prejudice the admissibility of any evidence which would apart from the provisions of those sections be admissible; or
 - (b) enable documentary evidence to be given as to any declaration relating to a matter of pedigree, if that declaration would not have been admissible as evidence if those sections had not been enacted.

34J—Special provision for taking evidence where witness is seriously ill

- (1) Where a person who may be in a position to give information in relation to an indictable offence is dangerously ill and, in the opinion of a medical practitioner, unlikely to recover from the illness, a magistrate or justice may take a statement from that person.
- (2) The statement is to be a sworn statement unless the magistrate or justice determines that the person making the statement does not have sufficient understanding of the obligation to be truthful entailed in giving sworn evidence.
- (3) Where a person is subsequently charged with an indictable offence to which the statement is relevant, the statement is admissible in evidence at the committal proceedings or trial of the charge if it is established—
 - (a) that the person from whom the statement was taken is dead or unable to give evidence because of illness or infirmity; and
 - (b) that the prosecutor or defendant (as the case requires) had reasonable notice of the proposal to take evidence and a reasonable opportunity to attend and cross-examine the person.

34K—Admissibility of depositions at trial

- (1) Where—
 - (a) a statement from a witness is filed or tendered for the purpose of committal proceedings relating to a charge of an indictable offence or oral evidence is taken from a witness in committal proceedings; and
 - (b) the witness subsequently dies or becomes so ill or infirm that he or she cannot give evidence at the trial,the record of the witness's evidence in the committal proceedings may, with the permission of the court of trial, be read as evidence at the trial.
- (2) Permission to admit evidence for the prosecution under this section will not be granted if the court considers that admission of the evidence without the opportunity of cross-examination would, in the circumstances of the case, be unfair to the defendant.

34KA—Admissibility of evidence of out of court statements by unavailable witnesses

- (1) Subject to this section, in prescribed proceedings, a statement not made in oral evidence in the proceedings (an out of court statement) is admissible as evidence of any matter stated if—
 - (a) oral evidence given in the proceedings by the person who made the out of court statement would be admissible as evidence of that matter; and
 - (b) the person who made the out of court statement (the relevant person) is identified to the court's satisfaction; and
 - (c) any 1 of the conditions specified in subsection (2) is satisfied.
- (2) The conditions are as follows:
 - (a) that the relevant person is dead;

Evidence Act 1929—19.9.2019 to 23.10.2019

Part 3—Miscellaneous rules of evidence

Division 1—Miscellaneous rules of evidence in general cases

- (b) that the relevant person is unfit to be a witness because of a bodily or mental condition;
 - (c) that the relevant person is outside of the State and it is not reasonably practicable to secure his or her attendance;
 - (d) that the relevant person cannot be found although such steps as it is reasonably practicable to take to find him or her have been taken;
 - (e) that through fear the relevant person does not give (or does not continue to give) oral evidence in the proceedings, either at all or in connection with the subject matter of the out of court statement, and the court gives leave for the out of court statement to be given in evidence.
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2)(e) fear is to be widely construed and includes, for example, fear of the death or injury of another person or of financial loss.
- (4) Leave may be given under subsection (2)(e) only if the court considers that the out of court statement ought to be admitted in the interests of justice, having regard to—
- (a) any information (whether or not given in evidence, or of a kind that could be given in evidence) suggesting threats have been made to the witness, whether directly or indirectly; and
 - (b) the statement's contents; and
 - (c) any risk that its admission or exclusion will result in unfairness to a defendant in the proceedings (and in particular to how difficult it will be to challenge the statement if the relevant person does not give oral evidence and the defendant is not able to cross-examine the person); and
 - (d) any other measures that could be taken by the court in relation to the relevant person; and
 - (e) any other relevant circumstances.
- (5) A condition set out in any paragraph of subsection (2) which is in fact satisfied is to be treated as not satisfied if it is shown that the circumstances described in that paragraph are caused—
- (a) by the person in support of whose case it is sought to give the out of court statement in evidence; or
 - (b) by a person acting on his or her behalf, in order to prevent the relevant person giving oral evidence in the proceedings (whether at all or in connection with the subject matter of the out of court statement).
- (6) Nothing in this section makes an out of court statement admissible as evidence if it was made by a person who was not competent at the time when he or she made the statement.
- (7) This section is in addition to, and does not derogate from, any other power of a court to admit an out of court statement into evidence.
- (8) In this section—
- prescribed proceedings* means—
- (a) proceedings for a criminal offence; or
 - (b) proceedings under the Serious and Organised Crime (Control) Act 2008.

34KB—Credibility

- (1) This section applies if in prescribed proceedings—
 - (a) a statement not made in oral evidence in the proceedings (an out of court statement) is admitted as evidence of a matter stated; and
 - (b) the maker of the out of court statement does not give oral evidence in connection with the subject matter of the statement.
- (2) In a case to which this section applies—
 - (a) any evidence which (if the person who made the out of court statement had given such evidence) would have been admissible as relevant to the reliability of the statement and the person's credibility as a witness is so admissible in the proceedings; and
 - (b) evidence may, with the court's leave, be given of any matter which (if the person who made the out of court statement had given such evidence) could have been put to the person in cross-examination as relevant to the reliability of the statement and the person's credibility as a witness but of which evidence could not have been adduced by the cross-examining party; and
 - (c) evidence tending to prove that the person who made the out of court statement made (at whatever time) any other statement inconsistent with the statement admitted as evidence is admissible for the purpose of showing that the person contradicted himself or herself.
- (3) If as a result of evidence admitted under this section an allegation is made against the maker of a statement, the court may permit a party to lead additional evidence of such description as the court may specify for the purposes of denying or answering the allegation.
- (4) In this section—

prescribed proceedings means—

 - (a) proceedings for a criminal offence; or
 - (b) proceedings under the Serious and Organised Crime (Control) Act 2008.

34KC—Stopping the case where evidence is unconvincing

- (1) If on a defendant's trial before a judge and jury for an offence the judge is satisfied at any time after the close of the case for the prosecution that—
 - (a) the case against the defendant is based wholly or partly on a statement not made in oral evidence in the proceedings (an out of court statement); and
 - (b) the evidence provided by the out of court statement is so unconvincing that, considering its importance to the case against the defendant, a conviction of the offence would be unsafe, the judge must either direct the jury to acquit the defendant of the offence or, if it considers that there ought to be a retrial, discharge the jury.

- (2) Where—
 - (a) a jury is directed under subsection (1) to acquit a defendant of an offence; and

- (b) the circumstances are such that, apart from this subsection, the defendant could if acquitted of that offence be found guilty of another offence, the defendant may not be found guilty of that other offence if the judge is satisfied as mentioned in subsection (1) in respect of it.
- (3) This section does not prejudice any other power a judge may have to direct a jury to acquit a person of an offence or to discharge a jury.

34KD—Court's general discretion to exclude evidence

- (1) In prescribed proceedings the court may refuse to admit a statement as evidence of a matter stated if—
- (a) the statement was made otherwise than in oral evidence in the proceedings; and
- (b) the court is satisfied that the case for excluding the statement, taking account of the danger that to admit it would result in undue waste of time, substantially outweighs the case for admitting it, taking account of the value of the evidence.
- (2) Nothing in this section derogates from any other power of a court to exclude evidence at its discretion (whether by preventing questions from being put or otherwise).
- (3) In this section—
- prescribed proceedings* means—
- (a) proceedings for a criminal offence; or
- (b) proceedings under the Serious and Organised Crime (Control) Act 2008.

Division 2—Miscellaneous rules of evidence in sexual cases

34L—Evidence in sexual cases generally

- (1) In proceedings in which a person is charged with a sexual offence, no question may be asked or evidence admitted—
- (a) as to the sexual reputation of the alleged victim of the offence; or
- (b) except with the permission of the judge—as to the alleged victim's sexual activities before or after the events of and surrounding the alleged offence (other than recent sexual activities with the accused).
- (2) In deciding whether permission should be granted under subsection (1)(b), the judge must give effect to the principle that alleged victims of sexual offences should not be subjected to unnecessary distress, humiliation or embarrassment through the asking of questions or admission of evidence of the kind referred to in that subsection, and must not grant permission unless satisfied that the evidence in respect of which permission is sought—
- (a) is of substantial probative value; or
- (b) would, in the circumstances, be likely materially to impair confidence in the reliability of the evidence of the alleged victim,
- and that its admission is required in the interests of justice.

- (3) Permission must not be granted under subsection (1)(b) authorising the asking of questions or the admission of evidence the purpose of which is only to raise inferences from some general disposition of the alleged victim.
- (4) An application for permission under subsection (1)(b) must be heard and determined in the absence of the jury (if any).
- (5) In a trial of a charge of a sexual offence, the judge is not required by any rule of law or practice to warn the jury that it is unsafe to convict the accused on the uncorroborated evidence of the alleged victim of the offence.
- (6) Subsection (5) does not affect the operation of any provision of this or any other Act requiring that the evidence of a witness be corroborated.
- (7) In this section—
evidence includes an allegation or statement made by way of an unsworn statement; sexual activities includes sexual experience or lack of sexual experience.

34LA—Admissibility of evidence of out of court statements by certain alleged victims of sexual offences

- (1) In proceedings in which a person is charged with a sexual offence, a statement not made in oral evidence in the proceedings (an out of court statement) is admissible as evidence of any matter stated if—
 - (a) oral evidence given in the proceedings by the person who made the out of court statement would be admissible as evidence of that matter; and
 - (b) the person who made the out of court statement is identified to the court's satisfaction; and
 - (c) each of the conditions specified in subsection (2) is satisfied.
- (2) The conditions are as follows:
 - (a) the person who made the out of court statement is the alleged victim of the sexual offence;
 - (b) the person will not be called as a witness in the proceedings because the judge is satisfied that, at the time the person made the out of court statement, the person was—
 - (i) a young child; or
 - (ii) a person with a disability that adversely affects the person's capacity to give a coherent account of the person's experiences or to respond rationally to questions;
 - (c) the out of court statement was not made by the person to an investigating or other authority as part of a formal interview process conducted in relation to the alleged offence;
 - (d) after considering the out of court statement, the circumstances in which it was made and any other relevant factor, the judge is of the opinion that the evidence has sufficient probative value to justify its admission.

- (3) Subsection (2)(b) applies regardless of the age of the person or the person's capacity at the time the judge is considering whether to admit the evidence of the out of court statement in the proceedings.
- (4) Evidence of an out of court statement admitted under this section may be used to prove the truth of the facts asserted in the statement.
- (5) If evidence of an out of court statement is admitted under this section, the judge must warn the jury to treat the evidence of the out of court statement with particular care because it has not been tested by way of examination or cross-examination of the alleged victim.

34M—Evidence relating to complaint in sexual cases

- (1) This section abolishes the common law relating to recent complaint in sexual cases.

Note—

See Kilby v The Queen (1973) 129 CLR 460; Crofts v The Queen (1996) 186 CLR 427

- (2) In a trial of a charge of a sexual offence, no suggestion or statement may be made to the jury that a failure to make, or a delay in making, a complaint of a sexual offence is of itself of probative value in relation to the alleged victim's credibility or consistency of conduct.
- (3) Despite any other rule of law or practice, evidence related to the making of an initial complaint of an alleged sexual offence is admissible in a trial of a charge of the sexual offence.

Examples—

Evidence may be given by any person about—

- when the complaint was made and to whom;
 - the content of the complaint;
 - how the complaint was solicited;
 - why the complaint was made to a particular person at a particular time;
 - why the alleged victim did not make the complaint at an earlier time.
- (4) If evidence referred to in subsection (3) is admitted in a trial, the judge must direct the jury that—
 - (a) it is admitted—
 - (i) to inform the jury as to how the allegation first came to light; and
 - (ii) as evidence of the degree of consistency of conduct of the alleged victim; and
 - (b) it is not admitted as evidence of the truth of what was alleged; and
 - (c) there may be varied reasons why the alleged victim of a sexual offence has made a complaint of the offence at a particular time or to a particular person, but that, otherwise, it is a matter for the jury to determine the significance (if any) of the evidence in the circumstances of the particular case.
 - (5) It is not necessary that a particular form of words be used in giving the direction under subsection (4).

(6) In this section—

complaint, in relation to a sexual offence, includes a report or any other disclosure (whether to a police officer or otherwise); initial complaint, in relation to a sexual offence, includes information provided by way of elaboration of the initial complaint (whether provided at the time of the initial complaint or at a later time).

34N—Directions relating to consent in certain sexual cases

(1) In a trial of a charge of a sexual offence where a lack of consent of a person in relation to a particular sexual activity is in issue, the judge must direct the jury that the person is not to be regarded as having consented to the sexual activity the subject of the charge merely because—

- (a) the person did not say or do anything to indicate that he or she did not freely and voluntarily agree to the sexual activity; or
- (b) the person did not protest to or physically resist the sexual activity; or
- (c) the person was not physically injured in the course of, or in connection with, the sexual activity; or
- (d) 1 or more of the following circumstances apply:
 - (i) the person freely and voluntarily agreed to sexual activity of a different kind with the defendant;
 - (ii) the person had freely and voluntarily agreed to sexual activity (whether or not of the same kind) with the defendant on an earlier occasion;
 - (iii) the person had, on that or some other occasion, freely and voluntarily agreed to sexual activity (whether or not of the same kind) with another person.

(2) The judge must, in a trial referred to in subsection (1), give each of the directions referred to in that subsection as may be applicable in the circumstances of the particular case.

(3) In this section—

consent, in relation to a sexual activity, has the same meaning as in the Criminal Law Consolidation Act 1935; sexual activity includes sexual intercourse (within the meaning of the Criminal Law Consolidation Act 1935).

Division 3—Admissibility of evidence showing discreditable conduct or disposition

34O—Application of Division

(1) This Division applies to the trial of a charge of an offence and prevails over any relevant common law rule of admissibility of evidence to the extent of any inconsistency.

- (2) This Division does not apply to—
- (a) evidence adduced pursuant to section 18; or
 - (b) evidence of the character, reputation, conduct or disposition of a person as a fact in issue.

34P—Evidence of discreditable conduct

- (1) In the trial of a charge of an offence, evidence tending to suggest that a defendant has engaged in discreditable conduct, whether or not constituting an offence, other than conduct constituting the offence (discreditable conduct evidence)—
- (a) cannot be used to suggest that the defendant is more likely to have committed the offence because he or she has engaged in discreditable conduct; and
 - (b) is inadmissible for that purpose (impermissible use); and
 - (c) subject to subsection (2), is inadmissible for any other purpose.
- (2) Discreditable conduct evidence may be admitted for a use (the permissible use) other than the impermissible use if, and only if—
- (a) the judge is satisfied that the probative value of the evidence admitted for a permissible use substantially outweighs any prejudicial effect it may have on the defendant; and
 - (b) in the case of evidence admitted for a permissible use that relies on a particular propensity or disposition of the defendant as circumstantial evidence of a fact in issue—the evidence has strong probative value having regard to the particular issue or issues arising at trial.
- (3) In the determination of the question in subsection (2)(a), the judge must have regard to whether the permissible use is, and can be kept, sufficiently separate and distinct from the impermissible use so as to remove any appreciable risk of the evidence being used for that purpose.
- (4) Subject to subsection (5), a party seeking to adduce evidence that relies on a particular propensity or disposition of the defendant as circumstantial evidence of a fact in issue under this section must give reasonable notice in writing to each other party in the proceedings in accordance with the rules of court.
- (5) The court may, if it thinks fit, dispense with the requirement in subsection (4).

34Q—Use of evidence for other purposes

Evidence that under this Division is not admissible for 1 use must not be used in that way even if it is relevant and admissible for another use.

34R—Trial directions

- (1) If evidence is admitted under section 34P, the judge must (whether or not sitting with a jury) identify and explain the purpose for which the evidence may, and may not, be used.

- (2) If evidence is admitted under section 34P and that evidence is essential to the process of reasoning leading to a finding of guilt, the evidence cannot be used unless on the whole of the evidence, the facts in proof of which the evidence was admitted are established beyond reasonable doubt, and the judge must (whether or not sitting with a jury) give a direction accordingly.

34S—Certain matters excluded from consideration of admissibility

Evidence may not be excluded under this Division if the only grounds for excluding the evidence would be either (or both) of the following:

- (a) there is a reasonable explanation in relation to the evidence consistent with the innocence of the defendant;
- (b) the evidence may be the result of collusion or concoction.

34T—Severance

Where—

- (a) 2 or more defendants are charged in the same information; and
- (b) a party proposes to adduce discreditable conduct evidence; and
- (c) a defendant (the applicant) applies prior to or during a trial for a separate trial or for a charge to be severed from the information, the court, when considering the application, must give strong weight to a real possibility that the applicant may be prejudiced by—

- (d) evidence proposed to be adduced by the prosecutor against another defendant which is not admissible against the applicant; or
- (e) evidence proposed to be adduced by another defendant which is not admissible against the applicant; or
- (f) the applicant's inability to adduce with respect to another defendant relevant evidence that would be admissible but for the operation of section 34P.

Part 4—Documents and other records

Division 1—Public Acts and documents

 - (ii) for the purposes, or in the course, of psychiatric or psychological therapy provided to the victim or alleged victim; and
- (b) the communication is made in circumstances that give rise to a duty of confidentiality or a reasonable expectation of confidentiality.

 - (c) a communication as to which reasonable grounds exist to suspect that the communication evidences a criminal fraud, an attempt to pervert the administration of justice, perjury or another offence.
- (3) A public interest immunity arising under this section cannot be waived by—
 - (a) the counsellor or therapist; or
 - (b) a party to the protected communication; or
 - (c) the victim or alleged victim of the sexual offence or the guardian of the victim or alleged victim.

67F—Evidence of protected communications

- (1) Evidence of a protected communication—
 - (a) is entirely inadmissible in committal proceedings; and
 - (b) cannot be admitted in other legal proceedings unless—
 - (i) the court gives permission to a party to the proceedings to adduce the evidence; and
 - (ii) the admission of the evidence is consistent with any limitations or restrictions fixed by the court; and
 - (c) is not liable to discovery or any other form of pre-trial disclosure.
- (2) On an application for permission to adduce evidence of a protected communication, the judge may make a preliminary examination of the relevant evidence if satisfied that—
 - (a) the applicant has a legitimate forensic purpose for seeking permission to adduce the evidence; and
 - (b) there is an arguable case that the evidence would materially assist the applicant in the presentation or furtherance of his or her case.
- (3) For the purposes of a preliminary examination of evidence, the court may order the counsellor or therapist to do one or more of the following:
 - (a) to provide written answers to questions;
 - (b) to produce written materials relating to the relevant protected communications;
 - (c) to appear for oral examination.

Exceptions—

- 1 If the counsellor or therapist who provided the counselling or therapy is an employee, answerable to another (the principal) in the organisation in which the counsellor or therapist is employed, an order under this subsection is to be addressed to the principal unless the court is satisfied that there are good reasons for not taking that course in the circumstances of the particular case.
 - 2 An order requiring a person to appear for oral examination is not to be made unless the court is satisfied that the examination cannot otherwise be effectively conducted.
- (4) The following provisions govern the conduct of a preliminary examination:

- (a) the public interest in preserving the confidentiality of protected communications;
- against—
- (b) the public interest in preventing a miscarriage of justice that might arise from suppression of relevant evidence.
- (6) In weighing the above considerations, the court is to have regard to—
- (a) the need to encourage victims of sexual offences to seek psychiatric or psychological therapy and the extent to which the effectiveness of such therapy is dependent on the maintenance of confidentiality between the counsellor or therapist and the victim;
 - (b) the probative value of the evidence and whether its exclusion may lead to a miscarriage of justice;
 - (c) the attitude of the victim or alleged victim to whom the communication relates (or the guardian of the victim or alleged victim) to the admission of the evidence;
 - (d) whether admission of the evidence is being sought on the basis of a discriminatory belief or bias;
 - (e) the extent to which admission of the evidence would infringe a reasonable expectation of privacy and the potential prejudice to any person who would otherwise be protected by public interest immunity.
- (7) The court is not to grant permission to adduce evidence of a protected communication unless satisfied that the public interest in preserving the confidentiality of protected communications is outweighed, in the circumstances of the case, by the public interest in preventing a miscarriage of justice that might arise from suppression of relevant evidence.
- (8) If the court decides to grant permission to adduce evidence of a protected communication, it may make ancillary orders—
- (a) to prevent further publication or dissemination of the evidence; or
