 - (b) the surrogate mother under a lawful surrogacy agreement should not be financially disadvantaged as a result of her involvement in the lawful surrogacy agreement.
- (2) The Minister, the Court, and each person or body engaged in the administration of this Act must exercise their powers and perform their functions so as to give effect to the surrogacy principles.
- (3) However, the surrogacy principles do not displace, and cannot be used to justify the displacement of, section 6.

8—Presumptions under Family Relationships Act 1975 to apply until parentage order made

The presumptions and other rules as to the parentage of a child under the Family Relationships Act 1975 continue to apply to a child born as a result of a surrogacy arrangement until such time as the Court makes an order or orders as to parentage of the child under Part 4.

 - (a) the application will be taken to relate to the child and each birth sibling; and

- (c) subject to this section, the surrogate mother under the lawful surrogacy agreement consents to the making of the order; and

- (7) The Court may excuse a failure to comply with a particular requirement under Part 3 (other than a prescribed requirement) if satisfied that, in the circumstances of the particular case, it is appropriate for the Court to make orders under this section despite the failure and, in such a case, may order that, subject to such conditions as may be stipulated by the Court, the requirement be dispensed with.
- (8) An order under subsection (7) may be conditional or unconditional.
- (9) The Court may, in the case where only 1 intended parent has applied for the order, and the other intended parent is alive at the time of the application, make an order under subsection (1) in favour of the applicant intended parent only—
 - (a) if the other intended parent consents to the making of an order in favour of the applicant intended parent; or
 - (b) if the applicant intended parent cannot, after making reasonable inquiries, contact the other intended parent to obtain their consent to the making of an order in favour of the applicant intended parent; or
 - (c) in any other circumstances prescribed by the regulations.
- (10) The Court may, before deciding whether to make an order under this section, require any party to the proceedings to provide an assessment of a specified kind from an accredited counsellor (obtained at the expense of the intended parents) in relation to the matter.

 - (c) any presumptions or other rules as to parentage of the child under the Family Relationships Act 1975 will be taken not to apply in relation to the child.
- (12) To avoid doubt, the Court, in proceedings under this section—
 - (a) is not bound by the rules of evidence but may inform itself as it thinks fit; and
 - (b) must act according to equity, good conscience and the substantial merits of the case without regard to technicalities and legal forms; and

- and may make such other consequential or ancillary orders as the Court considers appropriate.
- (4) Any person may apply for leave to intervene in an application under this section and the Court may make an order permitting the person to intervene in the application.

- (5) Except where the Court orders otherwise, a person who is permitted to intervene in an application under this section will be taken to be a party to the application.
- (6) Subject to any orders made under subsection (3), if an original order is revoked under this section, any rights, duties and relationships under the law of the State (including, to avoid doubt, parentage relationships determined under the Family Relationships Act 1975) are to be determined as if the original order had not been made.
- (7) Subject to any order made under this section, nothing in this section affects anything lawfully done, or any proprietary right or interest created in a person, while the original order was in force.
