Penalty in bond

32. Such bond shall be in a penalty of the amount under which the estate of the deceased is sworn; but the Court may reduce the amount of such penalty in any case, and may also order that more bonds than one be given, so as to limit the liability of any surety to such amount as to the Court seems reasonable.

After grant of administration no person to have power to sue as executor

35. Subject to the provisions of this Act, after any grant of administration no person shall have power to sue or prosecute any action, or otherwise act as executor of the deceased, as to the estate comprised in or affected by such grant, until such administration has been recalled or revoked.

Rights of executor renouncing, not acting, or not appearing when cited, to cease as if he had not been named in will36. Whenever—

- (a) any person renounces probate of the will of which he is appointed executor or one of the executors,
- (b) an executor appointed in a will survives the testator, but dies without having taken probate, or
- (c) an executor named in a will is cited to take probate, and does not appear to such citation, the right of such person or executor in respect of the executorship shall wholly cease, and the representation of the testator and the administration of his estate shall and may, without any further renunciation, go, devolve, and be committed in like manner as if such person had not been appointed executor.

If executor or administrator out of jurisdiction, special administrator may be appointed

37. If at the expiration of twelve months from the death of any person the executor to whom probate of the will, or the administrator to whom administration of the personal estate or of the estate of such deceased person has been granted, is residing out of this State, the Court may, upon the application of a spouse, or of any creditor or next of kin, or of any person interested under the will, or of the Public Trustee, grant to the applicant special administration, limited to the collection, management, and distribution of the estate of such deceased person, and to cease upon the return of the executor or administrator to this State, and an order being made for the rescission thereof as hereinafter mentioned.

Special administrator to make certain affidavits

38. The person applying for any such special grant shall, in addition to the oath usually taken by administrators, make oath that the executor or administrator of such deceased person is resident out of the State, and if the applicant is not the Public Trustee, that he is thereby delayed in recovering or obtaining payment of moneys or the possession of estate to which he is by law entitled.

On return of original executor or administrator, special administration to be rescinded

39. (1) On the return to this State of the executor or administrator to whom probate or administration has originally been granted, such executor or administrator may apply to the Court, by petition, to rescind the special grant of administration.

(2) The Court, on the hearing of such petition, upon being satisfied that such executor or administrator bona fide intends to remain within this State until the estate of the deceased has been duly administered, may make an order to rescind the special grant, upon such terms and conditions as to security, costs, or otherwise as to the Court seems reasonable.

On order being made for rescission, special administrator to account and pay over money

40. Upon any order being made by the Court for the rescission of any grant of special administration, the special administrator shall duly account to the original executor or administrator, and pay over and deliver all goods and moneys received by him, and transfer all lands vested in him, as such special administrator, and then remaining undisposed of.

Original executor or administrator liable, although special administration not rescinded

41. If such executor or administrator neglects to apply for an order for the rescission of such special administration, he shall, notwithstanding such special administration remains unrescinded, be liable to answer and make good all claims and demands against the estate of the deceased to the extent of the assets which have come to his hands, or which might have come to his hands but for his wilful neglect or default.

Revocation of grants not to prejudice actions

42. (1) Where, before the revocation of any probate or administration, or the rescission of any special administration, proceedings have been commenced by or against the executor or administrator who obtained such probate or administration, the Court in which such proceedings are pending may order the revocation or rescission of such probate or administration, and the grant of any probate or administration which has been made consequent thereon, to be notified upon the record.

(2) Upon an order being made under subsection (1) hereof the proceedings shall be continued in the name of or against the new or original executor or administrator in like manner as if the proceedings had been originally commenced by or against such new or original executor, or administrator, but subject to such conditions and variations, if any, as the Court directs.

Protection to persons acting in reliance on probate or administration

43. (1) The revocation or rescission of probate or administration granted under this Act does not render the executor or administrator liable for any prior act done by him in good faith and in reliance on the probate or administration.

(2) Subject to this Act, where a person, acting in good faith and in reliance on probate or administration granted under this Act, deals with an asset of the estate of a deceased person, he incurs no personal liability by so doing notwithstanding that the probate or administration may subsequently prove to be invalid or be revoked or rescinded.

(3) This section does not affect the rights that may lie against any person to whom property has been invalidly transferred, or to whom a payment has been invalidly made, by an executor or administrator.

(4) In this section—

“administration” includes an order under section 79 authorizing the Public Trustee to administer the estate of a deceased person.

Obligation of person dealing with asset to ensure that it has been properly disclosed

44. (1) A person who deals with an asset of the estate of a deceased person that is required to be disclosed under section 121a must satisfy himself by examination of the Registrar's certificate, or on the basis of some other reliable evidence, that the asset has in fact been so disclosed.

(2) A person who fails to comply with subsection (1) shall be guilty of a summary offence and liable to a penalty not exceeding two thousand dollars.

(3) This section does not apply to an asset of the estate of a deceased person who died before the day on which section 121a came into operation.

PART III

Vesting of intestate estates until administration

45. From the decease of any person dying wholly or partially intestate, and until administration is granted in respect of his estate, or until an order has been obtained to administer the same, the estate of such deceased person within this State, in so far as not affected by his will, shall be vested in the Public Trustee, in like manner and to the like effect as, immediately after the coming into operation of the Court of Probate Act, 1858, the personal estate and effects of persons dying intestate in England vested in the Judge of the said Court of Probate.

*Provisions Relating to LandLand to vest in executor or administrator of owner

46. (1) Land shall, after the death of the owner, and subject to any mortgage, trust, or equity affecting the same, pass to and become vested in his executor or administrator as if it were a chattel real.

(2) Such executor or administrator shall hold and deal with such land, and the same and the proceeds thereof, if sold, shall for all purposes be assets in his hands, and disposable and distributable for the payment of the debts and liabilities of the owner and under his will or intestacy as if such land had been a chattel real.

(3) No widow shall be entitled to her dower, nor husband to his curtesy, out of any lands passing under the provisions of this section.

(4) This section shall not affect the order in which, as between persons claiming under the owner, the assets of his estate are liable for the payment of debts or legacies, nor shall this section be deemed to impose any charge on land for the payment of legacies.

Court may make special orders as to management of undevised lands

47. The Court may from time to time, upon the petition of the executor or administrator, or any person beneficially interested, and after such previous notice as is prescribed by the rules and upon such inquiry as it thinks fit, direct the course of proceedings which shall be taken in regard to—

- (a) the time and mode of sale of any lands passing under section 46 and devolving under an intestacy;
- (b) the letting and management thereof until sale;
- (c) the application for maintenance or advancement or otherwise of shares or interests of infants;
- (d) the expediency and mode of effecting a partition if applied for; and generally in regard to the administration of the property for the greatest advantage of all persons interested.

Court may order partition

48. (1) In any case wherein upon such inquiry the Court is satisfied that a partition of the land would be advantageous to the parties interested, the Court may appoint one or more arbitrators to effect such partition, and to exercise in regard thereto under its direction and control powers similar to those of commissioners acting under a decree for partition.

(2) Upon the report and final award of the arbitrators setting forth the particulars of the land allotted to each party interested, the executor or administrator shall convey or transfer the land accordingly.

Interpretation

49. For the purposes of section 46—

Power to Court to assign bond

57. (1) The Court may, on application made on motion, petition, or summons in a summary way, and on being satisfied that the condition of any bond given under section 31 has been broken, order the Public Trustee to assign such bond to some person to be named in such order, or may give leave to the Public Trustee to sue on such bond.

(2) Such person, his executors or administrators, or the Public Trustee, as the case may be, shall thereupon be entitled to sue on the said bond in his or their own name or names, as if the same had originally been given to him or them instead of to the Public Trustee, and shall be entitled to recover thereon as trustee for all persons interested the full amount recoverable in respect of any breach of the conditions of the said bond.

Proceedings to compel account

58. (1) If at any time any administrator—

(a) makes default in compliance with section 56; or

(b) being ordered to deliver an account of his administration as mentioned in section 56a, neglects to deliver the same verified as aforesaid for one month after the date appointed for that purpose, the Public Trustee or any person interested may cause the administrator to be summoned before a Judge to show cause why he should not deliver such account forthwith.

(2) In case the administrator, being duly served with such summons, does not attend before the Judge at the time and place mentioned therein, or does not show any reasonable cause to the contrary, the Judge may from time to time order the administrator to deliver the statement and account, or the account, verified as aforesaid, either forthwith or within such further time as the Judge thinks fit to allow.

(3) On default in compliance with any order under subsection (2), a Judge may order the administrator in default to pay to the Public Trustee or person so applying any sum not exceeding one thousand dollars for every such default.

(4) Proceedings being taken under this section shall not prevent the Court from ordering the assignment of the bond to any person with a view of enforcing the penalty thereof as mentioned in section 57, or giving leave to the Public Trustee to sue on the bond.

(5) All costs and expenses of and incidental to the summoning of any administrator pursuant to this section shall either be chargeable to or paid out of the estate in respect of which such administrator is summoned, or shall be paid by such administrator, as the Judge orders.

59. (1) In the administration of the estate of every person who has died on or after the first day of January, 1880, no debt or liability of such person shall be entitled to any priority or preference by reason merely that the same is secured by or arises under a bond, deed, or other instrument under seal, or is otherwise made or constituted a specialty debt; but all the creditors of such person, as well specialty as simple contract, shall be treated as standing in equal degree, and be paid accordingly out of the assets of such deceased person, whether such assets are legal or equitable, any statute or other law to the contrary notwithstanding.

(2) This section shall not prejudice or affect any bond, deed, or other instrument under seal given or executed before the coming into operation of Act No. 140 of 1879; but all such bonds, deeds, or other instruments shall be entitled to priority or preference, according to the law in force before the passing of such Act.

(3) This section shall not prejudice or affect any lien, charge, or other security which any creditor holds or is entitled to for the payment of his debt.

(3) If probate or administration is granted after the filing of the declaration by a creditor, the Registrar shall, on issuing the probate or administration, issue therewith to the executor or administrator a copy of the declaration with a memorandum of the date of filing.

(4) After the service on or issue to the executor or administrator of the copy and memorandum where the declaration has been filed by a creditor, or after the filing of the declaration by an executor or administrator, the executor or administrator shall administer the estate so far as concerns the payment of liabilities in the same manner so far as practicable as it would have been administered for the benefit of creditors under a decree of the Supreme Court.

(5) The Court may, on the application, ex parte or otherwise, of the executor or administrator or of a creditor, order that any action against the executor or administrator shall not proceed beyond judgment without the leave of the Court.

(2) All persons who in any such case would be entitled to prove for and receive dividends out of the estate of the deceased person, may come in under the administration of such estate, and make such claims against the same as they may respectively be entitled to by virtue of this Act.

(4) If either House of Parliament, by resolution passed within thirty-six days next after any such rules are laid before it, resolve that the whole or any part thereof ought not to continue in force, the whole of such rules, or such parts thereof as may be specified in the resolution (as the case may be), shall, from the passing of such resolution, cease to be binding.
