- (a) whether or not all the members associate for that purpose or only some of the members (provided that if the Attorney-General is satisfied that only some of the members associate for that purpose, the Attorney-General must be satisfied that those members constitute a significant group within the organisation, either in terms of their numbers or in terms of their capacity to influence the organisation or its members); and

- (7) The Court may, on making a control order, make any consequential or ancillary orders it thinks fit, including, in a case where the control order prohibits the possession of an article or an article of a specified class, orders—
 - (a) providing for the confiscation and disposal of the article or such an article; and
 - (b) if the circumstances of the case so require, authorising a police officer to enter any premises in which the article or such an article is suspected to be, and search for and take possession of the article or such an article.

16—Service

- (1) Subject to subsection (3), a control order must be served on the defendant personally.
- (2) If a police officer has reasonable cause to suspect that a person is a person on whom a control order is required to be served in accordance with this section, the officer may—
 - (a) require the person to state all or any of the person's personal details; and
 - (b) require the person to remain at a particular place for—
 - (i) so long as may be necessary for the order to be served on the person; or
 - (ii) 2 hours,whichever is the lesser; and

 - (c) leaving it for the defendant at the premises with someone apparently over the age of 16 years; or
 - (d) if the person serving the order is unable to gain access to such a person at the premises—affixing it to the premises at a prominent place at or near to the entrance to the premises.
- (4) A control order is not binding on the defendant until it has been served on the defendant in accordance with this section.

- (1) The Court must, when determining a notice of objection, consider whether, in the light of the evidence presented by both the Commissioner and the objector, sufficient grounds existed for the making of the control order.
- (2) The Court may, on hearing a notice of objection—
 - (a) confirm, vary or revoke the control order; and
 - (b) make any other orders of a kind that could have been made by the Court on the making of the control order.
- (3) Without derogating from subsection (2), if the defendant—
 - (a) is a member of a declared organisation; and
 - (b) satisfies the Court that there is good reason why he or she should be allowed to associate with a particular member, or particular members, of a declared organisation, the Court may vary the order to specify that the defendant is not prohibited from associating with that member or those members, subject to such conditions (if any) as the Court thinks fit.

19—Appeals to Supreme Court

- (1) The Commissioner or an objector may appeal to the Supreme Court against a decision of the Court on a notice of objection.
- (2) An appeal lies as of right on a question of law and with permission on a question of fact.
- (3) An appeal must be commenced within the time, and in accordance with the procedure, prescribed by rules of the Supreme Court.
- (4) The commencement of an appeal under this section does not affect the operation of the control order to which the notice of objection related.
- (5) On an appeal, the Supreme Court may—
 - (a) confirm, vary or reverse the decision subject to appeal; and
 - (b) make any consequential or ancillary order.

20—Variation or revocation of control order

- (1) The Court may vary or revoke a control order on application—
 - (a) by the Commissioner; or
 - (b) by the defendant.

- (2) An application for variation or revocation of a control order may only be made by the defendant with the permission of the Court and permission is only to be granted if the Court is satisfied there has been a substantial change in the relevant circumstances since the order was made or last varied.
- (3) The Court must, before varying or revoking a control order under this section—
 - (a) allow all parties a reasonable opportunity to be heard on the matter; and
 - (b) have regard to the same factors that the Court is required to have regard to in considering whether or not to make a control order and in considering the terms of a control order.
- (4) If an application for variation or revocation of a control order is made by the defendant, the application must be supported by oral evidence given on oath.

21—Criminal intelligence

- (1) No information provided by the Commissioner to a court for the purposes of proceedings relating to the making, variation or revocation of a control order may be disclosed to any person (except to the Attorney-General, a person conducting a review under Part 6, a court or a person to whom the Commissioner authorises its disclosure) if the information is properly classified by the Commissioner as criminal intelligence.
- (2) In any proceedings relating to the making, variation or revocation of a control order, the court determining the proceedings—
 - (a) must, on the application of the Commissioner, take steps to maintain the confidentiality of information properly classified by the Commissioner as criminal intelligence, including steps to receive evidence and hear argument about the information in private in the absence of the parties to the proceedings and their representatives; and

- (2) A person does not commit an offence against this section in respect of an act or omission unless the person knew that the act or omission constituted a contravention of, or failure to comply with, the order or was reckless as to that fact.

Part 4—Public safety orders

Division 1—Making of public safety orders

23—Senior police officer may make public safety order

- (1) A senior police officer may make an order (a public safety order) in respect of a person or a class of persons if satisfied that—
 - (a) the presence of the person, or of persons of that class, at any premises or event, or within an area, poses a serious risk to public safety or security; and
 - (b) the making of the order is appropriate in the circumstances.
- (2) In considering whether or not to make a public safety order in relation to a person or class of persons, the senior police officer must have regard to the following:
 - (a) whether the person or members of the class of persons have previously behaved in a way that posed a serious risk to public safety or security or have a history of engaging in serious criminal activity;
 - (b) whether the person or members of the class of persons—
 - (i) are, or have been, members of a declared organisation; or
 - (ii) are, or have been, subject to control orders; or
 - (iii) associate, or have associated, with members of a declared organisation or persons subject to control orders;
 - (c) if advocacy, protest, dissent or industrial action is the likely reason for the person or members of the class of persons being present at the relevant premises or event, or within the relevant area—the public interest in maintaining freedom to participate in such activities;
 - (d) whether the degree of risk involved justifies the imposition of the prohibitions to be specified in the order (having regard, in particular, to any legitimate reason the person or members of the class of persons may have for being present at the relevant premises or event, or within the relevant area);
 - (e) the extent to which the making of the order will mitigate any risk to public safety or security;
 - (f) the extent to which the order is necessary having regard to other measures reasonably available to mitigate the risk;
 - (g) any other matters the officer thinks fit.
- (3) A public safety order may prohibit a specified person or specified class of persons from—
 - (a) entering or being on specified premises; or
 - (b) attending a specified event; or
 - (c) entering or being within a specified area.

- (4) If a public safety order prohibits attendance at a specified event, the order—
- (a) may, in specifying the event, include associated events or activities (provided that the associated events or activities occur on the same day as the principal event or part of the principal event); and
 - (b) must define the area or areas in which the event takes place for the purposes of the order; and
 - (c) must define when the event is taken to start and finish for the purposes of the order.
- (5) Despite any other provision of this section, a senior police officer must not make a public safety order that would prohibit a person or class of persons from being present at any premises or event, or within an area, if—
- (a) those persons are members of an organisation formed for, or whose primary purpose is, non-violent advocacy, protest, dissent or industrial action; and
 - (b) the officer believes that advocacy, protest, dissent or industrial action is the likely reason for those persons to be present at the premises or event or within the area.
- (6) Subject to section 25, a public safety order operates for the period specified in the order.
- (7) A public safety order may prohibit a person from entering premises or being on premises, whether or not the person has a legal or equitable interest in the premises, but must not prohibit a person from entering premises or being on premises that are the person's principal place of residence.
- (8) For the purposes of this section, the presence of a person or persons at premises or an event or within an area poses a serious risk to public safety or security if there is a serious risk that the presence of the person or persons might result in—
- (a) the death of, or serious physical harm to, a person; or
 - (b) serious damage to property.
- (9) In this section—
- damage*, in relation to property, includes the following:
- (a) destruction of the property;
 - (b) an alteration to the property that depreciates its value;
 - (c) rendering the property useless or inoperative;
 - (d) in relation to an animal—injuring, wounding or killing the animal.

24—Variation and revocation of public safety order

A public safety order may be varied or revoked by a senior police officer at any time and must be revoked if the Commissioner is satisfied that the grounds for making the order no longer exist.

25—Certain variations and orders must be authorised by Court

- (1) Despite any other provision of this Division, a senior police officer must not—
 - (a) make a public safety order that would operate for a period of more than 72 hours or, in the case of a public safety order relating to a specified event that occurs over a period in excess of 72 hours, the total duration of the event;
or
 - (b) vary a public safety order so that it operates for a period of more than 72 hours or, in the case of a public safety order relating to a specified event that occurs over a period in excess of 72 hours, the total duration of the event;
or
 - (c) make a public safety order relating to a person (other than a person who is a member of a declared organisation) if that person has, within the immediately preceding period of 72 hours, been subject to another public safety order,unless authorised by order of the Court under this section.
- (2) A senior police officer may apply to the Court for an order (an authorisation order) authorising the senior police officer to make—
 - (a) a public safety order; or
 - (b) a variation to a public safety order,of a kind specified in subsection (1).
- (3) An authorisation order may be made by the Court on an application made without notice to any person.
- (4) The grounds of an application for an authorisation order must be verified by affidavit.
- (5) An application to the Court for an authorisation order may be made and dealt with by a Magistrate by telephone as follows:
 - (a) the applicant must inform the Magistrate—
 - (i) of the applicant's name and rank; and
 - (ii) that he or she is a senior police officer,and the Magistrate, on receiving that information, is entitled to assume, without further inquiry, that the applicant is authorised to make an application under this section;
 - (b) the Magistrate must satisfy himself or herself (as far as practicable) that the case is of sufficient urgency to justify dealing with the application without requiring the personal attendance of the applicant, by the oral questioning of the applicant and any other available witnesses by telephone;
 - (c) if the Magistrate is not satisfied that it is appropriate to deal with the application without requiring the personal attendance of the applicant, the Magistrate may adjourn the hearing of the application to a time and place fixed by the Magistrate and inform the applicant of the time and place so fixed;

- (d) if the Magistrate is satisfied that it is appropriate to deal with the application without requiring the personal attendance of the applicant, the applicant must inform the Magistrate of the grounds on which the applicant proposes to make the order or the variation;
 - (e) if the Magistrate is then satisfied that it is appropriate for the applicant to make the order or variation, the Magistrate must inform the applicant of the facts that justify, in his or her opinion, the making of the order or variation, and must not proceed to make the order authorising the order or variation unless the applicant undertakes to make an affidavit verifying those facts;
 - (f) if the applicant gives such an undertaking, the Magistrate may then make the order, noting on the order the facts that justify, in the view of the Magistrate, the making of the order or variation and informing the applicant of the terms of the order;
 - (g) the applicant must, as soon as practicable after the making of the order, forward to the Magistrate an affidavit verifying the facts referred to in paragraph (e);
 - (h) the Magistrate must, as soon as practicable after the making of the authorisation order, forward to the applicant a copy of the order.
- (6) A Magistrate who makes an authorisation order under subsection (5) must file the order, or a copy of the order, and the affidavit forwarded by the applicant, in the Court.
- (7) An authorisation order must specify the maximum period for which the relevant public safety order (as made or varied in accordance with the authorisation order) may operate.

26—Right of objection

- (1) If the period for which a public safety order (as made or varied) will operate is more than 7 days, a person bound by the public safety order may lodge a notice of objection with the Court—
- (a) before the end of the period for which the order, or the order as so varied, operates; or
 - (b) within 14 days of the date on which the order, or the order as so varied, became binding on the person,
- whichever occurs first.
- (2) The grounds of the objection must be stated fully and in detail in the notice of objection.
- (3) A copy of the notice of objection must be served by the objector on the Commissioner by registered post at least 2 days before the day appointed for hearing of the notice.

27—Procedure on hearing of notice of objection

- (1) The Court must, when determining a notice of objection, consider whether, in the light of the evidence presented by both the Commissioner and the objector, sufficient grounds existed for the making of the public safety order, any variations made to the public safety order and any relevant authorisation order.

- (2) The Court may, on hearing a notice of objection—
 - (a) confirm, vary or rescind the public safety order; and
 - (b) make consequential or ancillary orders.

28—Appeals to Supreme Court

- (1) The Commissioner may appeal to the Supreme Court against a decision of the Court on an application under section 25.
- (2) The Commissioner or an objector may appeal to the Supreme Court against a decision of the Court on a notice of objection.
- (3) An appeal lies as of right on a question of law and with permission on a question of fact.
- (4) An appeal must be commenced within the time, and in accordance with the procedure, prescribed by rules of the Supreme Court.
- (5) The commencement of an appeal under subsection (2) does not affect the operation of the public safety order to which the notice of objection related.
- (6) On an appeal the Supreme Court may—
 - (a) confirm, vary or reverse the decision subject to appeal; and
 - (b) make consequential or ancillary orders.

29—Disclosure of reasons and criminal intelligence

- (1) Subject to section 30, if a senior police officer decides to make, vary or revoke a public safety order, the officer is not required to provide any grounds or reasons for the decision to a person affected by the decision (but is required to provide such grounds or reasons to a person conducting a review under Part 6 if that person so requests).
